OUR TREASURES

They can range from the Senior Prom
To winning an exciting football game;
From eating lunch with our favorite friends
To finishing a report before it is due;
From having a snowy day
To coming home with a report card that will satisfy even our parents;
From meeting someone special between classes
To having class outdoors in the spring.
They are indeed limitless.
These feelings which we cherish must necessarily Be depicted in a lasting and valuable yearbook.
It is with this purpose in mind that we gratefully
Dedicate this Volume XI of the Delphian
To all that we treasure.

At regular monthly meetings, twice weekly work sessions, and special planning conferences our nine-member Board of Education strives "to provide the best educational system possible within the ability of the community to pay." This broad guideline includes establishing and regulating educational policy for the school system, formulating and presenting an annual budget for the approval of the voters, and planning for the future through the expansion of existing facilities. To accomplish these tasks, each and every board member must have a thorough and sound knowledge of the operations of the various schools.

Tireless Hands

With a competent staff of five secretaries, Mrs. T. Hards heads the business department in the Board of Education office. Two ladies, Mrs. N. MacDonald and Mrs. B. Wedemeyer, are payroll clerks. Two more secretaries, Mrs. A. Smolensky and Mrs. C. Heger, are budgetary control clerks. Mrs. R. Schadewald is in charge of the use of school facilities.

In addition to these, each of the administrators of the Board of Education office has an assistant. Mrs. J. Frost is secretary to Mr. Hodgins, Mrs. G. Nutland is secretary to Dr. Dunn. Mrs. C. Lynn is secretary to Mr. Mele. Mrs. R. Harper is secretary to Mr. Van Pelt.

BOARD OF EDUCATION SECRETARIES

Building Better Horizons

Actively involved with students of every Paramus public school, the Department of Psychological Research, Guidance, and Special Education projects an acute understanding of student development at home, in school, and in many other aspects of life. Children being their main concern, the Department, competently headed by Mr. B. Barbarosh, strives to prevent and rectify the various physical, mental, and emotional disabilities found in today's youth. By means of special testing, counseling and private or seminar discussions, new depths of mental insight are realized, dissolving the communication barrier.

Parent Council . . . Planning Carefully

Communication is vital to the relationship between the home and the school. Parent Council, an organization of all interested parents, provides this necessary element. Under the guidance of Mr. J. McDonough, High School Principal, the Council meets once a month to discuss school activities and problems which concern both students and their parents. Parents then act as an advisory board to the administration.

Back-to-School Night is one program planned by Parent Council to acquaint parents with the school, the teachers, and the curriculum. Another annual Parent Council event is the Parent-Teacher Scholarship Show. This combined parent-teacher effort raises money for the continued education of deserving PHS senior graduates. During the past ten years over $25,000 has been raised by the Show, and 136 students have been given financial assistance to help further their education.

Joseph P. McDonough, Principal

John J. LeRose, Vice-Principal

Michael A. Azzolino, Vice-Principal

Anna Colnaghi, Assistant Principal

As the head master, Mr. Joseph P. McDonough has the position of making all the final decisions relative to the successful operation of Paramus High School.

Among his many duties as principal, Mr. McDonough evaluates each member of the faculty, meets weekly with the department chairmen, and attends many night-time functions, whether a sports event, a social occasion, a special performance, or a Parent Council meeting.

Mr. John J. LeRose, one of the two vice-principals, now has two offices to help coordinate the main building with the addition. In charge of discipline, Mr. LeRose is also responsible for the overseeing of the budgets of the various organizations, and for ordering all of the audio-visual equipment used in the school.

Mr. Michael A. Azzolino, the other vice-principal, has the huge task of scheduling the programs of all the students and making any adjustments which arise. He is also in charge of selecting the order of periods for assemblies and deciding which groups will attend what assemblies.

As Assistant Principal, Mrs. Anna Colnaghi, has several important duties to perform. In charge of all extra-curricular activities, Mrs. Colnaghi must prepare the calendar of events for each new school year. In addition, Mrs. Colnaghi is the manager of the attendance office, ably assisted by Mrs. J. Pappalardo and Mrs. R. Nemeth. At the close of the year, Mrs. Colnaghi supervises the graduation exercises.

Under the superb supervision of Mrs. D. Woardell, the secretaries in the high school office have several important clerical duties to perform. Answering the innumerable telephone calls, distributing supplies to teachers, typing letters, memos, and state reports, counting and collecting money from different sources, preparing report cards, supervising the distribution of the mail, and keeping records of the many bills and invoices are among the varied details they handle so efficiently. They also serve as official hostesses to guests and visitors to the high school.

New this year in her capacity as secretary to Mr. E. Sanzari of the English department and Mr. S. Schepps of the Science department is Mrs. Elizabeth Vanderbeek who has served as a substitute teacher in our system in former years.

Custodial Staff . . . The Cleaners Supreme!

Our custodial staff, ably assisted by our matrons, are the unsung heroes of Paramus High School who perform a most valuable service — that of keeping our school in "tip-top condition." They wage war daily against dirt and litter. Other channels for their untiring energies include such functions as washing the floors, cleaning the cafeteria, mowing the lawn, shoveling the snow, and keeping our mirrors and windows sparkling clean. They also assist us with evening activities such as dances, Parent Council meetings, Back-to-School night, and other important occasions. When there is any small repair job needed, the custodians are always on their toes to get it done quickly. All of our thanks go to this staff for performing a duty that is always efficiently performed.

Looking to the future while illuminating the past, the English department strives to bring a sense of reality, perception, and awareness to its students. Under the chairmanship of Mr. E. Sanzari, the teachers present a curriculum which has been planned with specific points of importance developed through each year.

Elocution, memorization, gesticulation, and stance are the essentials stressed in the training of speech delivery. Students have the opportunity to develop their talents in self-expression through varied types of oral performance, particularly drama and the imaginative arts.

Tachistoscopic flashes illuminate the rudimentary skills of accuracy and concentration. Modern machinery and meaningful materials aid in the development of good reading habits.

Time at each level is devoted to Shakespeare, the great master of the written word. Sophomores delve into the depths of Julius Caesar, while Juniors read and enjoy Romeo and Juliet. Climatic works take shape in Macbeth and Hamlet on the senior level.

Yesterday's history invariably influences history of today and tomorrow. Therefore, it is necessary to study history in the light of the past, present, and future, in order to determine its influence and effect on today's living. Professional guidance in this regard is provided by the Social Studies Department.

American History, a two year course, is taken by all students. Beginning with the founding of the American colonies, the program concludes with the present day. Additional courses given are as follows: psychology, political science, economics, sociology, world government, and economic geography. Current events and discussions, with every student encouraged to participate, make up an integral part of the program.

Ample time is devoted to debates, discussions, individual research as well as group projects, films, and recordings. All these strive to stimulate the student's desire to evaluate and absorb the facts influencing the growth of America.

There is no better way to cope with present day changes than to research the ways of the past, expertly guided by our Social Studies Department.

SANFORD SCHEPPS

Science Department
Chairman

By familiarizing students with complex scientific concepts, our science department, headed by Mrs. S. Schepps, aims to prepare students to live in an increasingly technological world. It seeks to develop in students a scientific understanding, relating to issues of science that have decided social impact. Generally, students follow the sequence of Biology, Chemistry, and then Physics. For the true science student, these same courses are offered on an accelerated level, while a less complicated version of Biology and a Physical Science course are given to those who have a general interest in science. Throughout these programs, laboratory experimentation and creativity are emphasized.

Within the limited time available, our Mathematics Department, under the tutelage of Mr. D. Jankelunas, attempts to give students maximum exposure to the various facets of mathematics. Commencing with Algebra I, offered at the junior high school level, the students progress to Geometry, more Algebra, and later Trigonometry. For more advanced students, the program includes exposure to calculus, while presenting algebra, geometry, and trigonometry in greater depth and at a faster rate. Those students who are oriented in a non-mathematical direction can take courses in General Mathematics, Business Mathematics, Shop Mathematics, or Arithmetic. Further diversity is given to the department by its two electives, offered this year for the first time — Probability and Statistics, and Trigonometry, both half-year courses. By developing the students' competence with the basic skills of mathematics and stressing its relationship with other disciplines, the mathematics department hopes to prepare students for the application of mathematics to almost every vocation.

Languages . . .

AMELIA DE LAURO

Foreign Languages
Department Chairman

Language is the primary form of communication among men. Speaking a language other than one's own opens the door to international friendship and understanding. With these goals in mind, the Foreign Language Department offers five languages in Paramus High School, namely, French, Spanish, Italian, German, and Latin. Each course includes not only the language study, but also the culture and history of a particular country. Great stress is placed upon oral expression.

In the first year's study of a language, basic grammar and vocabulary along with the history and culture of the country are covered. Each succeeding year adds in depth to the understanding of the language. By the fourth year, the student is ready to read the famous literature of the language.

Language students are exposed to other aspects of the language study other than the classroom. Movies, newspapers, and visits to theaters and restaurants are all utilized to help the student learn the language as well as if he were in the foreign country.

Increasing demands placed upon the commercial institutions of today have inspired great numbers of Paramus High School students to strive for careers in the world of business. Mr. L. DiTaranti, chairman of the Business Department, has successfully equipped it with specialized courses and machinery, thereby allowing students to benefit from actual business operations.

Also included in the business agenda is the Distributive Education program. This program permits selected students to spend one half of the school day in experiencing the rudiments of job training and the other half of the school day in actual participation. In addition to the various typewriting, shorthand, commercial and merchandizing courses available this year, a new course, computer data-processing, has been added to the curriculum. Computer technology is a relatively new field, for which plans are presently undergoing completion for further intensive study. Consequently, the Business Department remains responsive to the constantly changing and innovating business world.

Creative Arts . . . From Abstract Lines to Realism

Under the general supervision of Mr. A. LaRose, the Creative Arts department seeks to fulfill the need for individual creativity on the part of those students who possess evident and latent talent!

In the Industrial Arts department such courses as electronics, mechanical drawing, metalshop and woodshop are offered. Students in the electronics course learn not only the basics of electricity but also build their own radio and short wave sets.

Mechanical drawing is the course for those preparing for industrial designing, engineering, architecture, or drafting and building trades.

In the metal and woodshops, students are provided with the tools and the methods of instruction with which to create furniture, outdoor equipment, and decorative exhibits.

In addition to these courses, the Industrial Arts department also offers assistance to other departments by providing equipment and materials to be used for experiments, assemblies, and showcases about the school.

Special projects have been jewelry-making, ceramics, oil painting, ty-dyes (material which is tied and dyed), and batiks (material dyed with wax). Daily exhibits are displayed in showcases to demonstrate students' originality in their artistic endeavors. Seeing what they can produce with their own hands combined with an informal atmosphere motivate our art students to a high degree of creativity.

Homemaking, another area in the Creative Arts Department, is a course in which the girls are given practice in applying the principles of meal planning and preparation. Future homemakers not only learn the culinary skills, but also correct table setting and etiquette. Proper nutrition is also stressed continually throughout the course. Various techniques in cooking are explored in both traditional dishes and regional favorites. During the holiday season, the girls bake cookies and send them to nearby nursing homes.

Through the efforts of this department, the girls are trained to become efficient consumers and gain a valuable asset, which will be of lasting practical use in years to come.

Fabrics, fibers, and finishes are the three elements of design. Principles in clothing, construction and design are pursued in the creative flare of sewing. Not only do the girls learn to challenge their imaginations, but also develop sensitivity to line, color, and texture. Attention is also placed upon the improvement of personal appearance and grooming. Sewing solves "what to wear" worries and is a helpful antidote for the hard-to-fit figure.

Fashion originality and the selection of a pattern most flattering to the form are specific aims of this practical and profitable skill.

Music education is the goal of Paramus High's music department. Students have the opportunity to both learn and perform. Our vocal music program offers PHS singers three choirs — Concert Choir, Small Ensemble, and Girls Chorus. Under the leadership of Mr. N. Allen, the choirs sing all types of choral music from classical to contemporary.

Mr. F. Ryerson and Mr. S. Teich head the Spartan Band. Student instrumentalists develop their musicianship playing in the Marching Band, Concert Band, and Dance Band. Another instrumental music organization is the Orchestra, directed by Mr. R. Witte. Lessons on band and orchestral instruments are given by Mr. Ryerson, Mr. Teich, Mr. Witte, and Mrs. Soroka.

For students interested in music theory, a two year course taught by Mr. Allen provides a strong background in the theory, harmony, and composition of music.

"Pay particular attention to the footnotes." Mrs. B. Kramer advises Mark Kessler.

One finds that the heart of any academic institution is the library. Paramus High, being no exception, has a fine library of approximately 18,700 volumes. Any library, though, is not complete without an experienced staff. Our librarians, Mr. A. De Filippo and Mrs. B. Kramer, and secretaries, Mrs. E. Serrao and Mrs. D. Todd offer students the best possible guidance in their scholarly pursuits.

In addition to supplying books to students for their many research and term papers, the library has facilities for more recreational activities. Currently, the library subscribes to some 235 magazines and provides tapes and headphones for the music enthusiasts.

CLINTON SMITH
Guidance

Guidance is not one of the original "3 R's," but it is an intrinsic department of the high school. Without wholesome, attainable goals and a sense of well-being, a student cannot enjoy his high-school years. It is the hope of our eight counselors that all their students complete their adjustment to Paramus High, by participating, contributing, and developing during their three years here.

Any time that a student feels the need for information, advice, or an objective, concerned adult who will listen to him, one place to which he may go is the guidance office. It is always open to all students at any time of the day, from early morning until late in the afternoon, and a formal conference can be arranged within a week. There is devotion in this department, since those counselors who live in Paramus or in the nearby area are, in times of emergency, as close as the nearest telephone.

Computer counseling is the newest application of the "mechanical mind." Because of the number of situations that must be met by a guidance department, however, it is highly unlikely that a computer will ever make the counselor obsolete.

Physical Education . . .

HERBERT HOELAND
Physical Education
Department Chairman
Awards and Club Committee
Athletic Director

The Physical Education Department, under Mr. H. Hoeland, seeks to develop physical fitness in the student through a variety of games, sports, and exercises. Besides the strength gained by exercising, our physical education instructors try to help the students acquire coordination and agility by having them participate in sports and other activities. In addition, several days during the year are devoted to square dancing for the student to obtain skill, aplomb, and enjoyment.

For part of the year, the student must attend health education class instead of gym. In these health classes, teachers encourage the students to give their honest opinions in discussions on topics which directly affect them. Some such topics are mental illness, behavior, smoking, alcohol, and drugs. There are also movies and speakers to stimulate student interest.

Another important aspect of the department is Driver Education. "Driver Ed" is divided into two parts — theory and "on-the-road." Students learn the rules and laws in classroom theory and gain valuable driving experience "on the road," using automobiles donated by local dealers. Our Driver Education course is sanctioned by the National Organization on Safety Driver Education.

Family Living is given during the senior year. Family budgeting, aspects of living together in the family, social activities, and preparation for marriage are all important parts of the curriculum.

Student Council . . .

This was an eventful year for the Student Council. Reorganization was the keynote in the major constitutional changes which were made. Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes each elected a chairman, a vice-chairman, and a secretary. Faculty advisers were also chosen to help each of the classes to have proper representation. Class meetings were held throughout the year.

Two major reforms which took place were the granting of permission by the administration for students to go out for lunch and the stopping of the mid-term examinations. Two more proposed changes which are being contemplated for next year are the offering of draft counseling through Senior History classes and the establishing of social study halls.

Still another change which occurred was the implementation of the Coalition Council. This newly organized group was composed of students, teachers, and the administration. They reached a high point in effectiveness of negotiations towards meaningful solutions of problems affecting all.

Each year the Council, under the watchful eye of Mr. J. Waneck, sponsors all clubs and organizations, and several assemblies. This year's officers of the Executive Board were composed of Barry Blaxberg, President, Sue Fishman, Vice-President, Diane Hester, Recording Secretary, Mary Ann Kenny, Corresponding Secretary, and Bob Nahum, Treasurer.

Fifty-seven seniors became members of the George W. Hodgins Chapter of the National Honor Society as a tribute to their outstanding achievements. Selections are made, also, on the basis of the students' leadership, character, and service to the school. Each year the Honor Society, which is advised by Mrs. E. Riscoe and Miss B. Barber, sponsors a bookstore for the benefit and convenience of the student body.

In addition to maintaining this bookstore, the Honor Society provides a tutoring service to all students who desire it. This year a fund-raising project was held to augment the finances of the Society.

Two seniors, Harry Lawless and Joseph Leicht, were selected by the members of the Honor Society as possible candidates for a $1,000 scholarship offered by the parent organization, the National Honor Society.

In May of each year the induction ceremonies are held in the auditorium at night so that parents and relatives of the prospective candidates may attend. Following the program there is a reception held in the cafeteria where parents, relatives, teachers, and friends may offer their congratulations to the newly elected members.

Symbol of excellence, the Honor Society emblem is, indeed, a keystone. Four basic qualities, illuminated by the blazing torch of knowledge, are engraved on the shield as reminders of the privileges granted to those considered worthy of membership in the National Honor Society.

First is Character — the "stamp" of an individual.
Second is Scholarship — the "intellectual ability."
Third is Leadership — the "sense of directing others."
Fourth is Service — the "willingness to work for others."

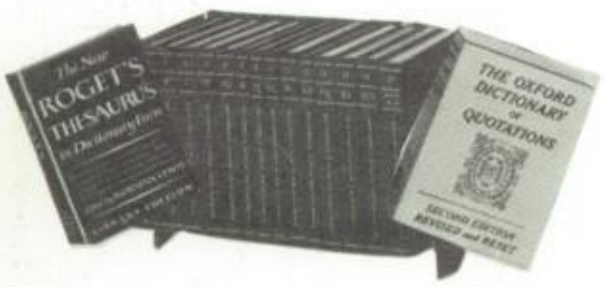
Library Council . . . Book Marks



Our Library Council performs several tasks necessary to the smooth running of the library. Members sort and arrange periodicals and newspapers, shelve books, and paste pockets in new books. These functions increase the members' knowledge of libraries in general and the school library in particular.

During the holiday season each year, the Library Council decorates the Christmas tree which is set up in the Student Commons. Arranging new and interesting displays in the library show cases permits creativity to be employed. These displays reflect the Council members' interest in the world around them.

Advised by Mrs. B. Kramer, the Library Council is valuable to the personal education and social development of its members as well as rendering worthwhile service to Paramus High School students and faculty.

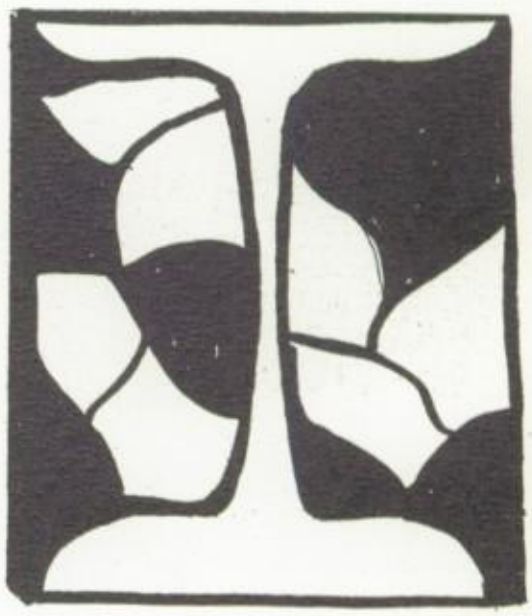
Great Books Discussion . . . Caretakers of the Classics



To stimulate analysis of classical literature is the purpose of the Great Books Discussion Club, a chapter of the nation-wide non-profit organization, the Great Books Foundation. Publishing its own editions of great books to be discussed, the Foundation trains the co-leaders who preside over the meetings.

Once each month, the Club meets for a two hour discussion, led by Mrs. E. Romney and Mr. J. Gish, on one of the books in the series. Although to grasp the messages of the author is the objective of these talks, it is believed that the sharing of interpretations of key portions of the text best enables the members to reflect and form their own opinions about the work.

Participants of the Club find the time during each month of the busy school year to read and often re-read great works of literature. One of the most popular this year was the Communist Manifesto by Karl Marx.

This edition, the eleventh, of the Delphian, under Mr. R. Boyce's direction, has been the most ambitious one so far. Several important features include the parchment which has been inserted in the front of the book to go along with the theme of an old manuscript, the copies of the past ten yearbooks with a history of those books covering the decade from 1960 to 1970, the class pictures from the early grades of the seniors, candids for every major sport in our program, a symbol or drawing to represent each of the clubs and sports offered, and, the running heads which attempt to use the names of the various department heads.

All the art work, under Mrs. R. LaHiff's direction, successfully carries out the theme of buried treasures and old maps. Endsheets, divider pages, and the cover have been artistically created to convey the theme of antiquity.

Efforts . . .

This year the Delphian is celebrating its tenth anniversary. Spanning the decade, our yearbook has grown in size, in much the same way as Paramus High School. From the very first yearbook, published after two years' work under the guidance of Mrs. F. Willis, to the present edition, prepared under the aegis of Mr. R. Boyce, the Delphian has expanded from 149 to 240 pages. Within the same period, the number of graduating seniors rose from 187 students of 1960, to approximately 580 this year.

Throughout those years the Delphian has shown considerable latitude. While themes have ranged from the original "Genesis" to the present issue's "Treasures," dedications have run the gamut from the "Voters of Paramus" to this year's "All We Treasure." Over the decade our yearbook has fared well in competition. In the nationwide Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest, conducted annually with over 12,000 entries, the Delphian has won First Place Certificates a total of nine times. Last year, the book was more successful than ever, garnering 942 points out of a possible 1000.

Building a yearbook is a complex project; the Delphian takes about 1700 hours of work to be completed. On the basis of nine years of experience, Mr. Boyce has developed a concise timetable for organization of the Delphian which is constructed in various steps.

First, the theme of the book is selected and an editorial staff is chosen. Mr. Boyce appoints an editor-in-chief, and the two of them select the remaining personnel. These steps are accompanied before school closes the year preceding production of that particular yearbook. During the summer, the senior personals are written by the staff. When school begins again, the "dummy" is prepared. It is used as the basic format of the book, and is no less than the entire Delphian in rough form on scrap paper. Actual layout, done to scale, follows soon after the "dummy." Meanwhile, photographs are scheduled for individual seniors and then for clubs. Once the pictures are developed, all students and teachers appearing in them must be identified. At the same time, all the literary work of the book is being completed and handed in. Typing proceeds on all of these written items. Once typed, the material is submitted to the printer, returned in galley form, proofread, corrected, and then returned to the printer, together with the art work which is under the direction of Mrs. R. LaHiff. Almost 1700 working hours have passed, and the Delphian has reached the presses. Once printed, it will become one of the treasures of Paramus High School's Class of 1970.

On Wednesday, November 5, 1969 a ten-page mimeographed issue of the "Forum" appeared, marking the transition from a printed newspaper to a student produced newspaper. One thousand copies were "printed" and 800 were distributed to the student body and faculty free of charge. Headed by Erica Friedman as editor in chief and Mr. D. G. Miles of the Science Department as adviser, the "Forum" presented a variety of articles. Leading the entries was the burning issue on smoking and the establishing of a smoking lounge which is still pending before the Board. One of the most interesting articles was the report of the press conference and party which Erica attended in New York on October 7, 1969 at Bergdorf Goodman's in honor of Miss Terry Prone, acknowledged authority on Irish teenagers, who, as a guest of Seventeen Magazine, was on a ten day visit to this country.

Other articles dealt with the parking lot situation, the moratorium day, the new courses being offered, as well as sports coverage, the band trip to Philadelphia, "It's Academic," Lincoln Center Awards, and news of the junior and senior classes.

Changes: usually, they are for the better.

With this philosophy in mind the 1969 Literary Workshop was begun. This year's membership was a mixture of artists, writers, and appreciators. Each person, being what he is with his own talents and interests, found his niche in the organization, even though for a change, neither officers were elected, nor editorships assigned. Not every person came to every workshop, but when they did come, it was with inspiration, eagerness to share ideas, and enthusiasm to create a new publication.

One person who was available every week was Mrs. K. Goldman. She was one of the changes that the Literary Workshop was exceptionally happy to have. Though this was her first year in assisting the workshop, the rapport, the advice, and the enthusiasm she emanated was equal to everything the members would have wished for.

Another change occurred in The idyller, literary magazine of the Workshop. This year, instead of all the gathered art and creative writing being stored for one June publication, several smaller issues were compiled and distributed, on significant days of the year, free of charge!

It's Academic! . . . Intelligent Answering!

Paramus High School was selected for the second consecutive year to participate in the WNBC-TV quiz show "It's Academic." Three students chosen to represent the school were Richard Ferstenberg, captain Mitchell Luxenberg, and Harry Lawless. They duplicated last year's feat of earning semi-finalist status in the competition. Also pictured are TV moderator Art James and faculty adviser Mrs. A. Colnaghi.

Drama Workshop . . . Superb Showmanship

This year, the Drama Workshop experienced several important changes: Miss C. Roger and Mrs. M. Libin are the new advisers, and only one major production, Frederick Knott's thriller, "Wait Until Dark," was presented on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 17 and 18, 1970, starring Gail Waelde, Tom Lynch, and Walter Sayre. Group activities included a Christmas skit which was shown to a local orphanage, an assembly program at West Brook Junior High School, along with several dramatic performances within the group. One primary function of the Drama Workshop is the development and recognition of achievement by the students who participate.

Drama Workshop Presents . . . Wait Until Dark!

"Wait Until Dark," by Fredrick Knott, the Drama Workshop's production for 1970, was performed on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 17 and 18, 1970.

Susy Hendrix, a young blind woman, is the center of the play's tense action. She becomes involved with three con men who take advantage of her blindness in their efforts to search for a doll stuffed with heroin. Susy manages to defend herself, and untangles a web of terrifying circumstances with the help of her eleven year old neighbor, Gloria. After Susy's death battle with the principal con man, the police enter, and she is happily reunited with her husband, Sam.

Gail Waelde as Susy Hendrix speaks into the telephone, "The number is 440-1234. Oh, boy, that's a stinker!"

Susy pleads, "Just don't ever leave me!" Neil Fishman as Sam Hendrix replies, "Fat chance!"

Patti Dressel (right) as Gloria asks, "Is something the matter, Susy? You look awful worried," of Susy.

Paramus High's William V. Dunn Chapter of the Future Teachers of America provides its members with insights into the various fields of teaching. Miss G. Filippone and Miss C. Zazzali advise a wide range of activities. F.T.A. sponsors the first dance of the year, gives a practice teachers' tea, and has a Student Aide Dinner in June. Every year the club has car washes and sells chocolate Santas to raise money for Books U.S.A., an organization which distributes books to needy areas. One of the most popular events is Visitation Day, when each member is able to observe the grade or subject of his choice in any school in the Paramus system. Through trips, panel discussions, and guest speakers, members learn about the many types and fields of teaching to help them decide what area is right for them. Members of F.T.A. also perform services to the school by ushering at school functions, tutoring, and working as student aides.

"I pronounce youz and her, hitched!" expounds Marryin' Sam's Assistant, Erica Friedman, to Joe Esposito and Sue Waks, as Steve Koestner beams at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Affiliated with the Y.M.C.A., the Tri-Hi-Y sets forth through its members the main objective of high moral standards by service to the school.

Each year, through Mrs. F. Bigart's efforts, the girls have sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance and alumni tea, the sale of refreshments and programs at the football and basketball games, and the county Tri-Hi-Y exchange program.

On Monday night, April 13, 1970 in the school cafeteria, the Tri-Hi-Y sponsored a spaghetti dinner to raise funds for Odyssey House, a drug rehabilitation center in Newark. All the food was donated for this worthy cause.

Membership in the Tri-Hi-Y is based upon a rating sheet which is submitted to their respective teachers by the girls. Officers of the organization screen each candidate for selection from these forms.

By performing the services of the Tri-Hi-Y girls achieve the leadership qualities so necessary for everyday living.

American Field Service . . .

American Field Service offers students some very personal "windows on the world." My particular "window" opened on India, where I spent two months during the summer of 1969.

My AFS stay began with five days in Bombay, accustoming myself to many of the noticeable differences of Indian life. Then I was flown to my "permanent" home, where the bulk of my summer was to be spent. This was the major emphasis of the AFS experience — a lengthy amount of time spent living with a family in a foreign country, living as an accepted member of that family, and not as a guest. Old Delhi, the ancient capital of India, was my home city. I lived with the Chaudhrys as part of a traditional "joint family," to which all the relatives remain closely bound under the leadership of the father. Such families are generally quite large; mine consisted of some twenty people.

Once settled and accepted as a family member, I still had almost two months in which to learn about India. Simply living a culture teaches one a great deal about it. By visiting other villages and cities — Jaipur, Mussoorie, Bankner, and Agra — my views of India life were broadened. Experiences such as this take on extra special meaning when they have taken place ten thousand miles from home.

AFS means more to me than learning about another country and its culture. It means gaining a second family, making friendships that will last for years, and discovering just who you really are. My experience not only gave me a better world perspective, it also increased my understanding of just what being an American means.

National Forensic League . . . Debating Demons

Formalized debate, according to a strict code of rules, is the goal of the National Forensic League. Members develop the ability to prepare and plan logical arguments, as well as gain the ability to speak extemporaneously. In addition to developing a proficiency in the art of rhetoric, debators also increase in poise and assurance from their competitive experience.

Under the leadership of Mrs. E. Gamble and Mr. W. Kischel, two man teams prepare speeches, either affirmative or negative, in conjunction with a national topic selected at the beginning of the year. This year the subject was: "Resolved: that Congress should prohibit unilateral United States military intervention in foreign countries."

Highlighting the season of competition are two major tournaments; one sponsored by Brown University and one by Columbia University. Bringing together some of the finest high school debators in the country, these "wars of words" are challenging indeed.

Social Issues . . . Towards A Better World

In May of 1969, six students sought to organize an improved vehicle of communication out of the former History Club. Their primary idea behind this new group was to listen, to challenge, and to discuss objectively factors which effect the social and mental development of the youth of today. Several key areas of discussion were decided upon through an all-student oriented program. Attempts have been made to resolve their questions and to encourage more outside involvement and viewpoints. Optimism is still the chief goal.

One of the highlights of the year was the lecture on drugs and the law presented by Mr. Harold Rothwax, a member of the New York City Legal Aid Society. In addition, the members of the Club, accompanied by their adviser, Mr. R. Rankin, attended several off-Broadway performances in New York.

Audio-Visual Aids . . . The Medium Is The Message

Membership in the Audio-Visual Aids Club is open to any boy who expresses the desire to work with audio-visual equipment. No mechanical knowledge is required since new members are instructed in the operation and care of the machines and materials.

Mr. E. Unger and Mr. J. Mohrhardt see that the boys perform their duties of maintaining, delivering, and returning all equipment. This is done before homeroom, after school, and during study periods.

Each year the faculty is informed of the newest trends in visual aids during the A.V.A. Workshops. This year the newly acquired video tape recorder, the VTR, has already proved to be very popular in many classes.

Third Row, Left to Right: Alan Bourassa, Arnold Friedman, Eric Hutter, Bob Carrigan, Tom Smith. Second Row: Mr. E. Highlights of memorable Spartan events are forever captured on film by the skillful members of this organization. Under the capable guidance of Mr. A. Latevola and Mr. A. Anderson, the students learn to process and develop their own works. Various techniques in scope, angle, and enlargement are explored.

Throughout the year the Photography Club exhibits the pictures of the members in the showcase located outside the Cafeteria. These showings display the talents of this organization, thereby giving the members the recognition which they deserve.

Future Nurses . . . Caring and Curing

Participants in this organization are active in many school and civic affairs throughout the year. Club members volunteer their services to Bergen Pines, the Blood Bank, the Red Cross, and the Heart Foundation. These experiences so obtained are unforgettable.

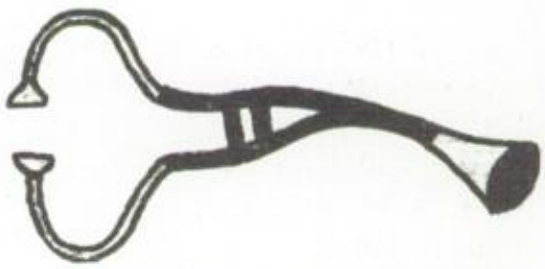
Guest speakers in the various fields of medicine and allied areas are invited to their weekly meetings which enlighten the girls on the rewarding career opportunities in nursing.

Among their other activities they are responsible for the Christmas Party at the Old People's Home, preparing food baskets for the needy during the holiday season, sponsoring the student-faculty games to raise money for the Red Cross fund, and an annual student-alumni tea.

Advisers Mrs. E. Fielding and Mrs. D. Slifko are always willing to assist the Club in any new venture and strive to make each year active and productive.

Medical Careers Club . . . Many Rich Fields!

Fifth Row, Left to Right: Marc Standig, Ed Lippman, Tom Crandall, Bob Roth, Joel Kahn, Tom Massari, Steve Schneider, Brad Zamer, Jim Weiss, Bob Goonin, Robert Schimmel. Fourth Row: Tom Wiatrak, Diane Katzenstein, David Lowin, Gary Asher, Jim Mawe, Arun Chandra, David Ross, Carla Morganstern, Barbara Weiss. Third Row: Sherri Katz, Cynthia Zmetronak, Lori Cohen, Carolyn McAvay, Ellen Klingsberg, Kathy Koetzner, Sue Fallat, Pat Puckhaber, Brigitta Clermont, Ilene Slucker. Second Row: Anne Geibel, Laurie Nahum, Roberta Isaacson, Janice Gerstenkorn, Stephanie Pons, Ellen Braverman, Sally Gellert, Sharon Zadeh, Barbara Hebert, Barbara Zeman. First Row: Peter Knipe, Glenn Styles, Joanne Vodola, Sue Liebowitz, Richard Ferstenberg, Mike Falk, Lisa Ferstenberg, Iris Cohen.



Answering the question, "What are the functions of the Medical Careers Club?" is difficult, because its scope is constantly changing and growing. This year the club sponsors a bi-weekly lecture series in the school, as well as publishing the Medical Careers Club Journal each semester. By entertaining at local centers for the deprived and the disabled, members showed their willingness to give time to the handicapped. Membership in the club is quite diverse, for medicine itself is a wide-ranging discipline. Yet, it is this desire to enter the same major field that binds the members of the Medical Careers Club into a cohesive organization.

Future Scientists . . . Lab Laborers

Under the auspices of the National Association of Science Teachers, the Future Scientists of America is nationwide in scope. Our Chapter is open to anyone who expresses a special interest in the field of science and who plans on future work in this important field.

Miss J. Garbarino, the Club's adviser, has arranged for the meetings to be supplemented by films, guest speakers, and discussions related to current scientific investigations.

Conservation Club . . . Preserve and Protect

From relative obscurity, the issue of conservation and ecology has vaulted to the forefront of the news. Protecting and preserving our natural resources, conservationists are becoming known as true "Friends of Earth."

Under the guidance of Mr. C. Long, our Conservative Club has been especially active this year. One of its major concerns is informing others of the state of our resources. Weekly films, highlighting the dangers and devastations of pollution, have been shown for this purpose. Special activities are planned for April 22nd, "Earth Day," a time for people across the country to devote themselves to the question of our survival in our environment.

Other concerns of the Club are landscaping the school grounds, caring for the plants in the greenhouse, and discussing new advances in the study of all flora.

Sewing Club . . . Tailor-Maids

Fashion-minded students learn to apply their nimble fingers to the construction of various garments. Carefully supervised by Mrs. S. DeRege, the members of this circle learn the practical and profitable skills in the art of sewing.

Benefits of this Club are twofold: the girls not only learn to improve their sewing ability, but they also gain an economical and flexible wardrobe as well.

Through this organization, the girls receive useful tips in the creation of new outfits or how to adjust ready-to-wear clothes to keep up with the changing trends in dress.

Chef's Club . . . In The Dough

Members of the Chef's Club are expertly taught by Mrs. B. Saraby, our own Betty Crocker. In the kitchen these boys are given the opportunity to be creative. During weekly cooking sessions the class has experimented with simple dishes and then it has attempted complete dinners. While having fun the boys have gained a practical skill. Their favorite foods have been pies, cakes, cookies, and lasagna.

Radio-Electronics Club . . . Socket to Me!

This organization, the Radio Electronics Club, is highly technical in nature. Much scientific knowledge and interest are required for membership in the Club which operates its own short wave radio station WB-2-FID.

Mr. V. Mosdar, the adviser, has helped many of the members of the Radio Electronics Club to obtain their ham radio licenses from the Federal Communications Commission. While learning the fundamentals of electronics and radio operation, the boys are also gaining valuable experience which they can use for pleasure and profit in the future.

Chess Club . . . Chess Nuts!

Chess is one of the oldest pastimes known to man. It is recognized today as the foremost game of intellectual skill. Players begin with an equal number of pieces in identical array. What makes it different in opportunity is that one player must have a first turn to move.

Far from mathematical certainty, the game of chess will probably never run out of variations. Among the board games there are two main types: those of position and those of movement. Chess is of the latter type.

Members of the Chess Club, under Mr. M. Nardelli's supervision, are taught the basic concepts during weekly meetings.

Throughout the year, the Club enters various interscholastic chess tournaments. Concentration, skill, and patience are needed but the members all agree that chess is both relaxing and rewarding.

F.B.L.A. . . . "How's Business?"

Open to any student who has completed a year of business training, the Future Business Leaders of America, though small in number this year, has been meeting quite regularly. Advised by Miss J. Gulick and Miss P. Ippolito, the Club has seen a film on data processing; it has also held a successful Christmas party; and some of the members have volunteered to prepare bulletin board materials within the Business department.

Folk Dance . . . Fancy Footwork

One of this year's newly organized clubs is the Folk Dance Club. It often meets twice a week, because one hour a week is just not enough to satisfy everyone's eagerness to participate.

Mrs. L. Cohen, the club's adviser, is a constant source of wonder to the group. She is not only an adviser, but, more importantly, she is the instructor of basics and has a fantastic repertoire of folk dances that she now eagerly and gracefully shares with the club. If it were not for her patience, energy, and enthusiasm, the folk dancers could hardly swing as well as they do, especially in this first experimental year.

In following the lure of Terpsichore, a whole troupe of girls as members of the Modern Dance Club met in the gym on weekly afternoons. Clothed in leotards, they taught and danced with each other, or at times they just worked alone, but always they felt free and eager to consult Mrs. R. DeVito, their adviser.

One of the group projects was creating a modern dance concert for the students of West Brook Junior High. For many of the dancers this performance was their debut, and for several of the girls it had real significance, for they plan on entering the world of the dance after graduation.

Concert Choir presented four memorable concerts in 1969-70. First was Friday night, November 14, "An Evening of Story and Song," which featured the 150-voice choir singing contemporary choral music and the PHS Vocal Music Department production of "The Ballad of Brawn Michael," an original musical comedy.

Following in December was the annual Christmas Concert in which Concert Choir gave a fine performance of Vivaldi's Gloria; soloists were Anne Terhaar, Patty Sayre, Linda Mehl, and Brigitta Clermont. February's Winter Concert joined Choir and Band in a program of show music.

Mozart's Regina Coeli, written for choir, solo quartet, and piano, was Concert Choir's major work for the Spring Concert in May. Also on the spring program were Randall Thompson's "Alleluia," show music including "This Is My Beloved" from Kismet, "I Talk to the Trees" from Paint Your Wagon, and Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine," and four spirituals — Everytime, Two Wings, Dry Bones, and Ride the Chariot.

Mr. N. Allen directed all four concerts including the musical production; Chris Marshall was the choir accompanist and the orchestra for "Brawn Michael." Concert Choir officers for 1969-70 were as follows: Linda Mehl, President; Heidi Pettersen, Vice-President; Lucille DeMartino, Secretary; Barbara Walsh, Treasurer; Faye Chapman, Librarian; Sally Leshnover and Valerie Sinrod, Wardrobe Assistants.

Small Ensemble . . . Joyfully Singing

For Small Ensemble, the past year has been a full and rewarding one. Mr. N. Allen's 45-voice select choir began the year with a guest performance at the Paramus Inter-Faith Thanksgiving Service in November. In addition to the annual Christmas Concert, the choir sang a Christmas program for the Farview PTO. In January, the Youth Cultural Exchange at the First Presbyterian Church in Ridgewood combined the talents of Small Ensemble and Ridgewood High School's Chamber Choir. Small Ensemble, accompanied on the organ by Christine Marshall, presented a program of sacred music which included "Two Sacred Songs" by Byrd, Bach's "Sheep May Safely Graze," and a movement from Verdi's Requiem.

Also on the concert schedule for Paramus High's traveling singers were Immaculate Heart Academy, West Brook and East Brook Junior Highs, and Bergen County Choral Day.

Sunday, May 17 was the choir's last performance of the year. Selections for this Spring Concert included Jean Berger's contemporary setting of the 16th century "Harvester's Song," "He's Gone Away," a moving ballad with soprano solo, and the folk tune "Charlottown." Perhaps the most sublime choral work ever written, Brahm's "Nanie," was the climax of Small Ensemble's year of song.

Girls Chorus . . . A New Song

In its second year, Girls Chorus has proven a popular addition to the vocal music department. For their first performance the girls, under the direction of Mr. N. Allen, sang a favorite Christmas carol carefully rewritten, "The Twelve Days After Christmas." February's Winter Concert featured the girls' performance of the Beatles' "Yesterday" and "I Feel Pretty" from West Side Story. Ending the year for Girls Chorus was the Spring Concert in May. Their portion of the choral program included "One Fine Day," the aria from Madame Butterfly, "Linden Lea" by Ralph Vaughn Williams, and an arrangement of the old English round, "Hi, Ho Nobody Home." Accompanist for all three performances was Christine Marshall.

Vocal Music Department Presents . . .

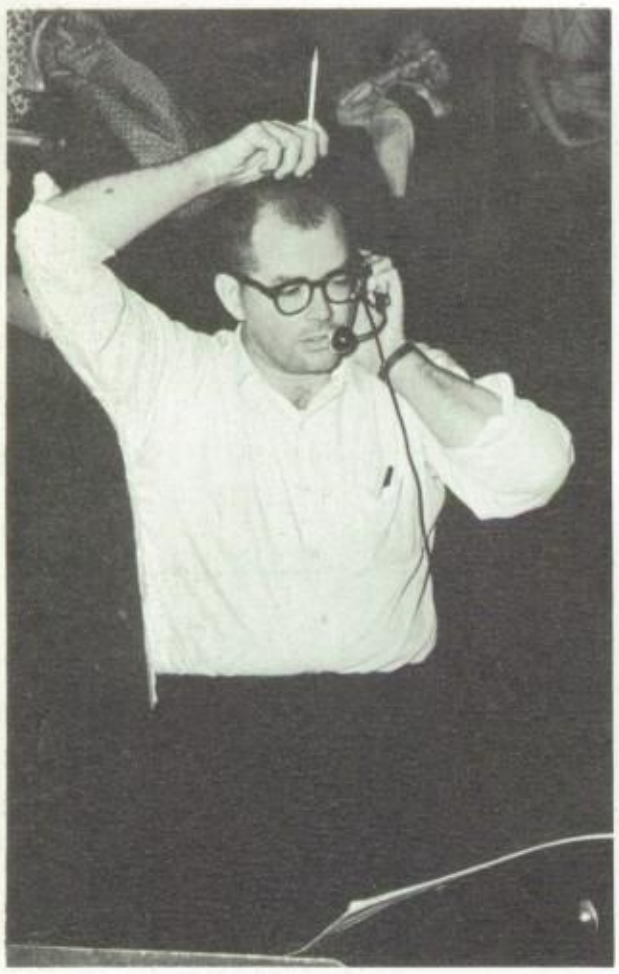
On Friday evening, November 14, 1969 the Paramus High School Vocal Music Department presented its first musical, "The Ballad of Brawn Michael" by James Leyden and Lee Benjamin. It was repeated on Saturday evening, February 7, 1970 and sponsored by the Senior Class as part of their fund raising activities.

Set in Ireland in an area on the edge of the Woods of Shillelagh is the town of Peddlers Way. Once upon a time, Lehna (played by Heidi Pettersen) is a witch who desires to be mortal. In order to do so, she must find love. Along comes Brawn Michael (played by Mike Tveraas) who is attacked by the bad men. Lehna thrusts her body in the path of the knife to save the life of Brawn Michael. Thus, Lehna dies. But she returns to life when she stubs her toe on a bench. This caused pain which showed she finally possessed mortality. She wins Brawn Michael and "they live happily ever after."



Mr. N. Allen replies, "Hey?! That's rude, crude, and boorish!" on the intercom.

"The Ballad of Brawn Michael"

"Mr. Allen's right hand" Chris Marshall was the accompanist, assisted by Cetta Graci.

"Always Faithful!" Lucille DeMartino was the stage manager, assisted by Brigitta Clermont.

Heidi Pettersen (Lehna) beseechingly pleads, "Michael, think of me!" as she is pursued by John LeRose (the Constable).

Beth Manni, "A wandering minstrel am I."

"Macushla, Macushla . . . My darling, my darling" sings Mike Tveraas as Brawn Michael.

"The Leaders Three": Mr. S. Teich (left), Band Leader, Beth Manni, Head Majorette, Mr. F. Ryerson (right), Band Leader.

Musically-minded Spartans add to the excitement of many school functions. Under the batons of Mr. F. Ryerson and Mr. S. Teich, the Band works toward putting on excellent performances at all football games, and at the annual Christmas, Winter, and Spring Concerts.

Every eighth period, the Band members assemble in the Band room to rehearse for their next show. This year the Spring Concert featured "Fantasy and Allegro," "The William Tell Overture," and "Ballet for Young Americans." On just the right note, the Band closes its season at graduation.

In addition to these activities, the Band has had a busy year. On Sunday, May 25, 1969 at 3:00 P.M., the Band performed at the dedication ceremonies of the new Band Shell donated by the Rotary Club.

On Saturday, October 4, 1969 at 6:00 A.M. the Band traveled to Philadelphia to attend a Band Day Festival at Franklin Field, the home of the Philadelphia Quakers. With 21 other marching bands, containing 3,000 musicians, colorguards, twirlers, and cheerleaders, the combined bands formed the Statue of Liberty and the words IN GOD WE TRUST. During the half-time show, the formations were so large that our band consisting of 104 Spartans and Spartanettes alone formed the "D" in the word "God." In this formation the combined bands played "The 1812 Overture," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Give Me Your Tired and Your Poor."

Stirring Tempos!

"Attention!" Beth Manni puts the Spartan Band through one of its routines.

"Brrrr! How do you expect me to play when it is so cold?" Dave Penque shivers at the Clifton Band Festival.

On Tuesday, October 21, 1969, at 8:00 P.M., Paramus High School participated along with 14 other bands in the annual Band Festival sponsored by the Herald News at the Clifton Armory. This year's theme was a nautical one with emphasis on the songs of the sea and sailors.

Erica Friedman presents Walter Sayre with an award for being in MacDonald's All-American Band.

A future Pablo Casals? Mike Rennert practices his cello lesson in the music room.

Through the instruction of Mrs. J. Soroka and the direction of Mr. R. Witte, the Orchestra has grown to a membership of thirty-five. Now in its fourth season, the players rehearse during the eighth period in the auditorium.

Alternating with the Band in playing at assemblies, the Orchestra joins the Band and Choir at the Annual Spring Concert by performing special selections. Their repertoire includes classical music such as the works of Mendelssohn and Tschaikowsky as well as contemporary music such as that of George Gershwin.

Members of the Orchestra are privileged to wear a blazer with the Spartan emblem to identify them as participants in this musical organization.

"Our little drummer boy." Dave Penque gets ready for a Dance Band rehearsal.

In addition to conducting the Spartan Marching Band, Mr. F. Ryerson also directs the very popular Dance Band. Composed of about thirty members, some of whom are also in the Orchestra and the regular Band, these talented musicians add to the enjoyment of the audience at the annual Spring Concert with their foot-tapping renditions of the popular dance band music of bygone days and of the latest tunes.

To keep in musical shape these busy players rehearse weekly in the evening and are available for social functions. They too are privileged to wear a blazer with the Spartan emblem on it to identify them as members of our own Dance Band of Paramus High School.

"Man with a horn." Steve Kutnewski studies his music at a Dance Band rehearsal.

Color Guard . . .

Linda Hoppe
Captain

Of the eight girls who comprise the Color Guard, six are seniors. Under the command of Captain Linda Hoppe, these spirited Spartans could be seen, flags unfurling and guns atwirling, at every football game this year.

Directed by Miss R. Bishar, the girls on the squad are selected at April tryouts on the basis of marching skills, teacher recommendations, and the ability to perform gun routines. Many long hours of rehearsal and much drilling must be executed before the girls learn the intricate maneuvers of flag holding and gun twirling.

In addition to marching at the games, the colorful Color Guard also sparks up parades and band pageants. This year, the Guard was proud to travel to Philadelphia with the Band to participate in the Band Day Festival on Saturday, October 4, 1969.

"There they go, folks, fourteen graceful, dazzling acrobats with mini-skirts . . . our Spartanettes!"

For younger sisters, proud friends, and amazed parents, the Paramus High Twirlers are a treat well worth the foregoing of a frank or a hot chocolate during a football halftime. Though the squad numbers 14 girls, 28 batons are seen whirling at once. And who would miss watching their chorus line?

Such a show is the result of many people's efforts. Miss M. Bellina, for one, is adviser to the twirlers. At the beginning of the year, the senior twirlers do much to create the fun and friendship that develops throughout the year. Each junior selects a "Cherry Cherub" from the senior twirlers, and it is to this particular girl that questions, trusts, and presents are given. Once the psychological needs are taken care of, the girls always make plans to appease a physical one — hunger! This year the Senior Squad took their juniors out for breakfast on Thanksgiving morning, the day of the last football game.

Our Twirlers are never ones to rely entirely on tradition, however. Led by Lori Giordano and Barbara Friedman, the entire squad enters the "think tank" during their meetings and practices so that new or improved chorography can be added to their repertoire. Two years ago the hit was "The Lonely Bull," last year it was "The Stripper," and this year everyone would probably agree that "Mission Impossible" was "Number One" of the "Top Twirling Tunes."

Twirlers in Perspective

Though most people think that twirling is performed just during the football season and for concerts, ten girls worked particularly hard, because, at the 23rd annual Scholastic Baton Twirling Competition sponsored by the Ramsey High School Athletic Department on March 21, 1970, the Paramus High School Twirlers won a second place trophy which was later presented to Mr. J. McDonough, principal.

This was the first time in the history of the high school that we were represented in this competition. Two registered National Baton Twirling Association officials judged the girls on the basis of their marching, maneuvering, dance-twirl, twirling, and general effect. Fair Lawn, the yearly winner, again came in first place, bettering Paramus by a mere 1.7 points.

Barbara Friedman as Captain, Kathy Bak, Kathy Gilchrist, Lauren Kordell, Nancy Nadler, Angela Perrulli, Sandi Schwartz, Gail Selnick, Nancy Waks, and Sue Waks were the girls who entered contest. In the solo division, Sandi Schwartz demonstrated her best efforts in the excellent performance she gave.

All on their own, and spending long hours after school and on weekends practicing their winning routines, this squad proved itself to be one of the best twirling groups Paramus High has ever had.

Sixteen girls represented our school at varsity sports events this year. These ten seniors and six juniors who made up the cheering squad of '69-'70 led enthusiastic spectators to display genuine school spirit and to shout encouraging words to our sports participants. Miss M. Hakim, the peppy adviser to the cheerleaders, generated a great deal of spirit.

To act as "big sisters" to them, the senior cheerleaders selected the junior cheerleaders so that there was a feeling of friendship. They also sponsored a "kidnap overnight." Juniors were sent to the homes of seniors and they "kidnapped" a cheerleader and brought her home "overnight."

Our cheerleaders conducted their usual pep rallies, sold "beat-tags," made posters, and decorated the locker rooms and the goal posts for home football games.

Open to any girl who enjoys sports and likes to have fun while competing, the Girls Athletic Association, under the combined leadership of Mrs. C. Bengeyfield and Mrs. C. Budenas, offers a wide variety of activities. Such events as sports days with other schools are sponsored by the GAA at which hockey, basketball, track, and softball are played and enjoyed. In the spring, the Mother-Daughter night is one of the most popular times. Mothers and daughters are divided into teams and the mothers must perform all kinds of 'non-sensical stunts, such as, skooter racing, jumping rope, or running with an egg on a spoon.

New this year was the jelly bean counting contest as a fund raising project. In the student commons a large jar of jelly beans was displayed during the lunch periods and any person who was willing to pay a nickel could guess how many jelly beans were in the jar. This proved popular and may become an established custom.

Another highly successful campaign was the big food drive conducted by the GAA through the Student Council. All the food that was collected was shipped to the boys in Vietnam. In order to pay for these expenses the GAA also sponsored a cake sale.

Rounding out their activities the GAA sang at the Old People's Home which was greatly appreciated both by the girls and their audience.

This group of athletes is composed of only those juniors and seniors who have earned their letters in the eight varsity sports, football, basketball, soccer, wrestling, track and field, cross country, baseball, and tennis.

For the school year of 1969-1970 the Lettermen's Club, along with maintaining tradition, has instituted some innovations. As is the custom, the Club co-sponsored the All Sports Dance and participated in the annual basketball game against the GAA. Under the inspirational leadership of the new adviser Mr. D. Carlberg and President Tom Kupfrian the boys started their own intramural basketball league. This program might seem to be a logical addition to the Club's activities since membership is open to any boy who earns a letter in a varsity sport.

During the winter, when skiing conditions were good, weekly trips were made on Saturday evenings to the nearby Great Gorge Ski Area. Also planned this year was a three day weekend in Vermont. Beside the actual skiing, club members benefited from films and talks presented at meetings, as well as enjoying the end-of-season party.

Gymnastics helps to develop the strength and the coordination so necessary for other sports as well as being a sport in itself. To build this strength and coordination is the primary objective of the Gymnastics Club whose adviser is Mr. J. Stefaniak.

Students work out twice weekly in the gym. Stunts and routines are learned on the horizontal bar, the parallel bars, the long-horse, the sidehorse, and in free floor exercises. These routines are exhibited to clubs and organizations who request a program. Also, the Gymnastics Club presents a demonstration of its skills during the Club Assembly.

Our 1969-1970 bowling season at Paramus High School concluded with a very close finish in the boys' league. It was not until the final week of bowling that the winner was decided.

Notre Dame, the winning team, was composed of Captain Jim Frattolillo, John Haw, Bruce Traggorth, and Jay Matusow. Their final team average was 144.1.

Jim Frattolillo received the trophy for high individual average with a 157.9. Tom Slupicki was awarded the high game trophy for his game of 228 and John Haw was given a trophy for his high series of 529.

In the boys' tournament the high game winner was Tom Slupicki at 228 and the high series winner was Jim Frattolillo at 548.

Beaver walked away with the honors in the girls' league. Members of the team were Captain Ronnie Schneider, Marie Adamski, Kathy Abrams, and Linda Chiapelone.

Fran Hand won the high individual average award with a score of 143. Ronnie Schneider was the high game winner with a score of 210 and Linda Tancredi was the high series award winner with two games of 330.

In the special tournament the high game winner was Ronnie Schneider with a score of 210. Fran Hand won the trophy for high game series with a 358 score.

Bruce Traggorth was given a special award for the outstanding work he did for the league this past year.

Impressive in every aspect, this year's well-rounded grid squad displayed conquering force within its league as it shouldered its way to the NNJIL co-championship.

With a sparkling exhibition of talent in the season's opener against Hackensack, the Spartans counted on a win and got it as they subdued the Comets 20-6. Lessons, however, were still to be learned as the team had to face a defeat at the hands of league opponent Passaic Valley. Defeat, nevertheless, did not faze the Spartans as they retaliated in their next game against Ridgewood by triumphing over the Maroons 21-6. Continuing their winning ways, the gridiron aces tread underfoot Englewood and, when an early lead against Fair Lawn was gained, the spirits of all Spartans rose as Paramus easily won the game and became one of the leaders in the NNJIL crown battle. This position was not given up as the remainder of the season passed by as the Spartans decisively bruised every other league opponent among which was the always tough Wayne Valley squad. Only one blemish came to our team as they were defeated in a battle against the cold and Bergen Catholic. Within range of a goal at times, the Spartans could not break through the Bergen Catholic line. This defeat was all but compensated for by their overwhelming defeat of Bergenfield 41-6.

With a powerful team such as this, it is obvious that honors resulted. Besides league honors, All-Suburban honors (offense) were given to Ray Rulli and Al Favero with honorable mention to Tom Kupfrian and Bob Rucker. All-Suburban defense honors were awarded to Frank Bartucelli, Len Fariello, Joe Leicht, and Dave Reicher, with honorable mention going to Rich Jacobs. All-Bergen honors were accorded Frank Bartucelli in offense and in defense, Len Fariello and Dave Reicher. Second team All-Bergen honors were presented to Joe Leicht for his excellent defensive work.

Thus, the co-championship of the league is ours!

Spartan booters opened a winning season in superlative form by defeating the Hackensack Comets 3-0 in a runaway battle. This defeat proved a solvent to the forty-two game winning streak of the Comets which the Spartans had marred the previous year with a tie but failed to break. After defeating the Comets the Spartans went on to tie in two of their next four contests and won the next. Throughout the rest of the season the Spartans oscillated back and forth in their won-loss columns but ended the season as they had begun it, in winning form, this time against Bergenfield. Though outscoring their opponents in total goals, 30-25, the Spartan's final record suffered six defeats. This, however, comprised only a segment of the season as the Spartans united to form winning combinations in winning seven games and tying three.

Spartan leadership on the soccer field was shown by each tri-captain individually and a number of squad members. Captain Tim LaRose led the Spartan attack in scoring over half of the Spartan goals. For his outstanding performance during the season he was given honors as being on the All League, All County and All North Jersey (IV) teams. LaRose was followed in goals by Rich Pollitt and Bob Rosenberg who scored five and four respectively. They too received honors as Pollitt made All League Honorable Mention and Rosenberg was on the second team of the All-League squad. Other honors were awarded to Captain Kim Boomhower and Gary Kriftner who received Honorable Mention All League recognition.

Ron Speirs
Captain

For the past two years Ron Speirs has led the Spartans in the stiff NNJIL cross-country competition. This year was no exception, and with his extraordinary leadership as Captain, the harriers laid a foundation for future development.

Beginning slowly with losses to Bergen Catholic and Hackensack, the Spartan runners began to gain momentum that was evident throughout the rest of the season. This was revealed with a tie to Passaic Valley followed by two wins. After a defeat and another win, a crucial meet was lost to Teaneck by only one point, and in each meet for the rest of the season Spartan determination was displayed, though losing at times by strikingly close scores. Highlight of the latter portion of the Cross Country year was a stunning and sound defeat over rival River Dell in which the Spartans crushed their opponent 15-45.

Among the accomplishments of this year's team include a sixth place in the Bergen County Meet, sixth in the State Sectional, third in the NNJIL Meet, and in the Passaic County Invitational the Sophomore team finished fourth. Individual honors were received by Captain Ron Speirs in being chosen All-County for the second year, and in being the Section 1 Group 4 Champion. Bob Chasen was chosen for the second team All-League, and Bob Zitelli made honorable mention All-League.

Though the season was trying for the team as a whole, it was not without its benefits in experience to the juniors and especially to the sophomores. Because of the talent shown by these underclassmen, next year's team should be a league leader and the outlook for the year after looks even better.

Opening its season with a stirring game against Fort Lee, the Spartans used their foul shooting as the decisive factor as Paramus won its first game of the regular season. Spartan cagers, however, could not pull a winning combination together again until its next out-of-league duel against St. Cecilia in which it checked any St. Cecilia advance and defeated them by a fifteen point margin. Stiff NNJIL competition and an injury to co-captain Tim LaRose menaced the Spartans the rest of the season leaving Paramus with only two league wins against both Wayne Valley and Passaic Valley. Both these games were "pressurized" as the Spartans over-powered their opponents in the last few minutes of play, the Wayne Valley game going into overtime. In the Passaic Valley game the Spartans charged the air by working their way from a seven point deficit going into the fourth quarter to defeat Passaic Valley 50-48. Spartan determination was revealed in two more games where they lost to league opponents by one point.

One of this year's thrillers came midway through the season as Paramus led second place Teaneck through three periods of play in what looked like the biggest NNJIL upset of the year. Teaneck, however, recovered and defeated the Spartans 68-52. This year's team, though unsuccessful in regaining the NNJIL throne, proved to give valuable experience to many underclassmen who will make up the crux of next year's team. With the experience gained by these juniors and sophomores, next year's team's forecast seems bright under the capable direction of Coach William Smith.

Action on the mat hit a peak this year with outstanding performances in every weight class that resulted in an extremely successful record of ten wins and three losses. This season was an exceptional one in many respects in that Paramus recovered from the many injuries of its squad during the year and that the Spartans' only defeats were so well fought that no opponent could gain more than a five-point lead over our matmen.

Beginning the season with alternating wins and defeats, the Spartan grapplers finished the remainder of the season with eight consecutive wins and one loss against worthy opponents. Highlight of the league schedule was a dramatic match against Bergenfield. Trailing 20-9, the Spartans needed a pair of pins and a decision to overpower the Bears, and they did just that! This match conclusively ended the Bergenfield NNJIL winning streak at forty-eight, which spanned a period of seven years.

Superior achievements in every weight class were shown through the year, but much recognition is due to Captains Len and Ken Barcelona who easily gained first team All-League, All-Suburban, and All-County honors with Len in the 123, and twin brother Ken in the 130 pound weight class. Len and Ken went on to be crowned regional champs and placed fourth in the state tournament. Len Fariello, who won nearly every bout by a fall in the unlimited class, received honors in being named to the second team of All-League and All-Suburban, and also received honorable mention All-County.

With backbone like this success was eminent!

Known to the school as the oldest varsity sport, track is also the only varsity sport which can boast that it has never had a losing season. In eleven years of competition, the team's impressive record now stands at ninety-four wins, twenty-three losses, and three ties. During the eight years of its rigid NNJIL contention, the cindermen have attained the championship six times, finishing second once and third once with a league record of fifty-seven wins, three losses, and three ties. Once again the goal of this year's squad will be the league title under the reputed guidance of Coaches L. Lanzalotto, E. Unger, and J. Garofalo. Paramus seems to have what it takes to master that crown.

To lead the team in this year's cinder competition will be Co-Captains Ron Speirs and Ken Effler. Speirs who holds school records in the 880, mile and two mile, and who, last year, ran the fastest mile in the state, was voted the outstanding runner at the North Jersey relays and gained All-County honors. Speirs will be unable to aid his fellow cindermen with his ability this season due to an illness which felled him early this spring. Another prominent miler, junior Rich Slotkin, will also have to miss the season due to an appendectomy. Our other captain, Ken Effler, will once again star in the 100, 220, and broad jump in which he gave many an outstanding performance last year.

As the 1970 baseball season opens, the Spartans look uncertainly at what lies ahead but are growingly optimistic as potential is being realized. Three returning lettermen are found among the ranks of this year's squad. Veterans of last year are Tom Kuderka, who ended the '69 season with a .292 batting average and will be playing center field, Joe Leicht, who will cover left field, and pitcher Kevin Moore, who was undefeated last year with three wins. Filling out the outfield will be either Tom Sweeney or John Skurla. Infield positions will be manned by juniors Bob Chelak behind the plate and Jim Tedesco at short-stop, with Craig Oranchak at first base and Bob Rosenberg at second. Third base will be patrolled by John Purpura. Besides Moore, other Spartans at the mound include underclassmen John Quimby, Jim West, and John Gould.

This season the Spartan diamond men will try to better the 13-11 mark of last year's squad and there is a good possibility that it can do so. As a whole the team functions as a good defensive unit and if one of the underclassmen pitchers can "pull through," the team seems certain to excel.

Prior to this year, spring sports included track, baseball, and tennis. This year golf was added to round out the spring schedule and to give opportunities to Spartan golfers to compete with the members of other schools on the varsity level. Under the direction of Coach A. Forty, who advised the sport when it was a club, the golf team can look forward to a successful season with a senior backbone made up of Mike Miello, Rich Silver, and Craig Terkowitz who received valuable instruction when the team was a club.

Although having twelve players, the team will be represented by only four of them in competition, and though these four will be functioning as one unit, the emphasis in golf is upon the individual. Every time the golfer competes he competes against himself, more so than his opponent, in trying to lower his total score. With this individual effort in mind, the Spartans can optimistically anticipate their first season as a team.

It's Tee-riffic!

With a strong contingent of seniors controlling this year's squad action, the outlook for this season seems favorable to the Spartans in the always tough NNJIL competition. Experience is one of the key words this year as the Spartan netmen will transfer their ability gained in former matches from capability into winning form on the courts. This will indeed be fulfillment for the many seniors who have grown with the team through the past two years and can now use their potential to the greatest advantage. Talent is also a key word this season as the Spartans plan to demonstrate this ability in every facet of the court life. This talent is evident already in the team with the leadership of Captain Bob DiBenedetto and four other returning lettermen.

With the season opener against Bergen Catholic being won 5-0, Coach R. Cohen and his team can only look forward to a successful season with the promise so far shown this year.

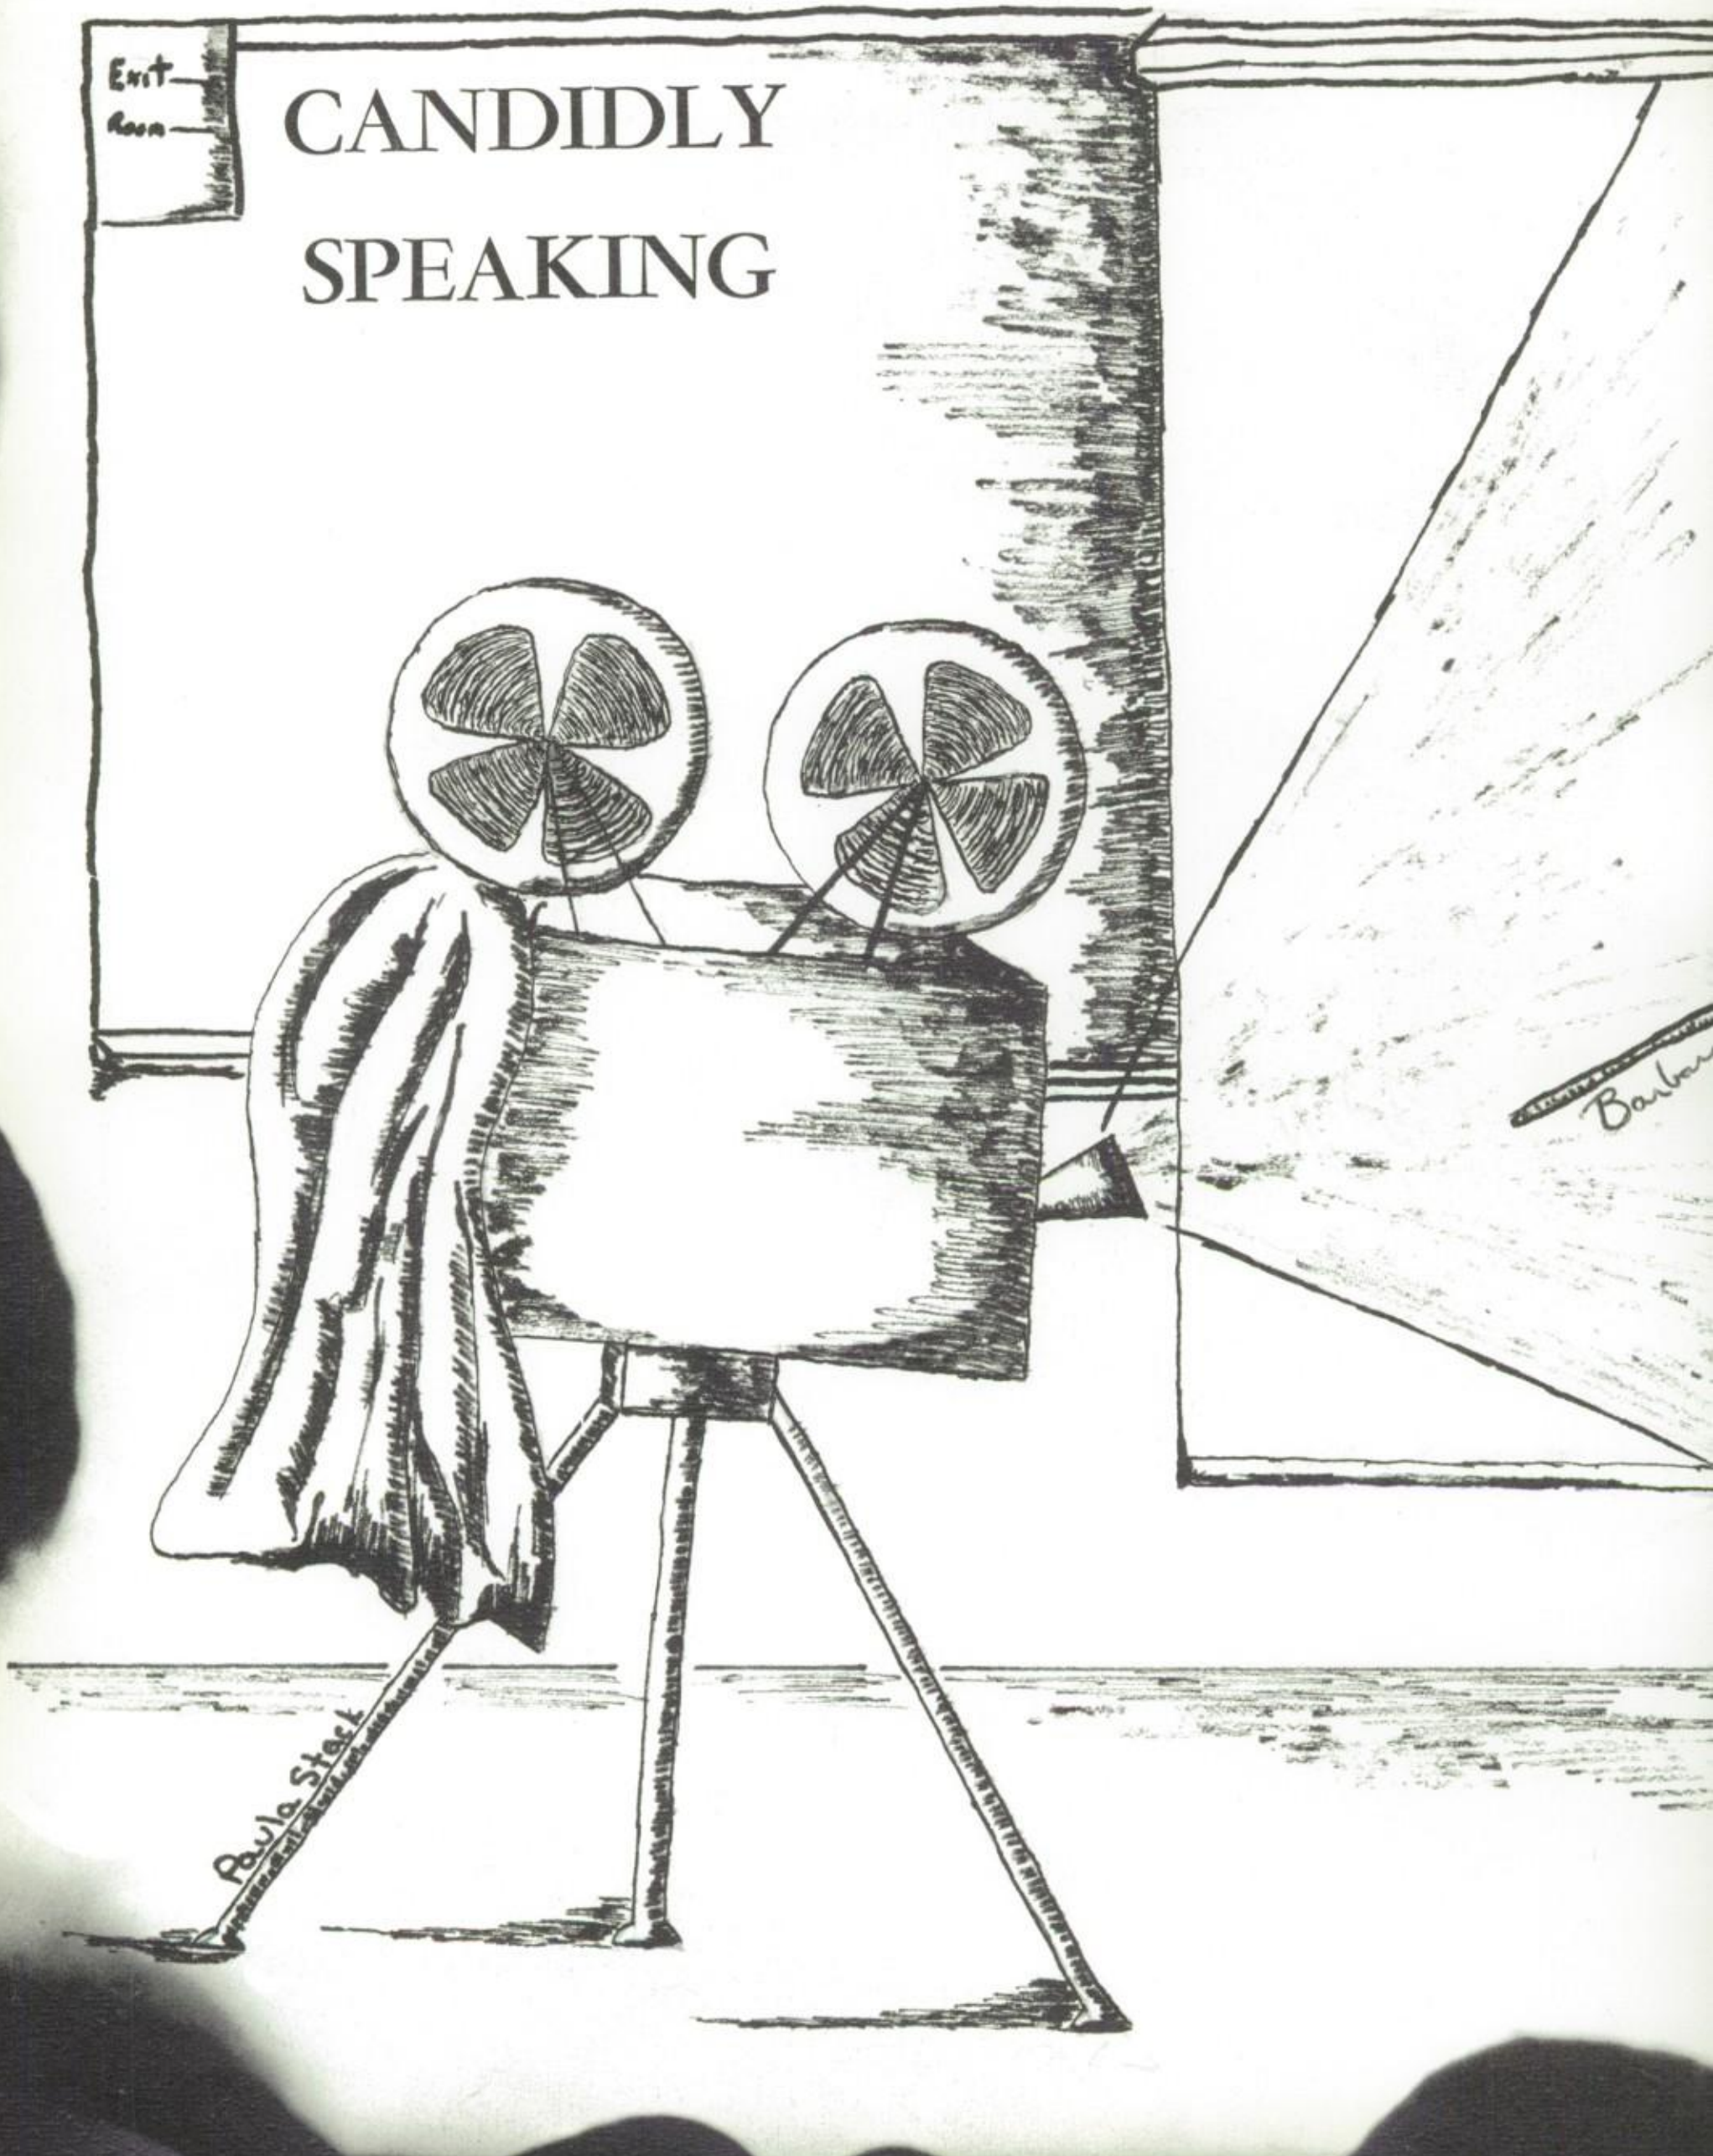
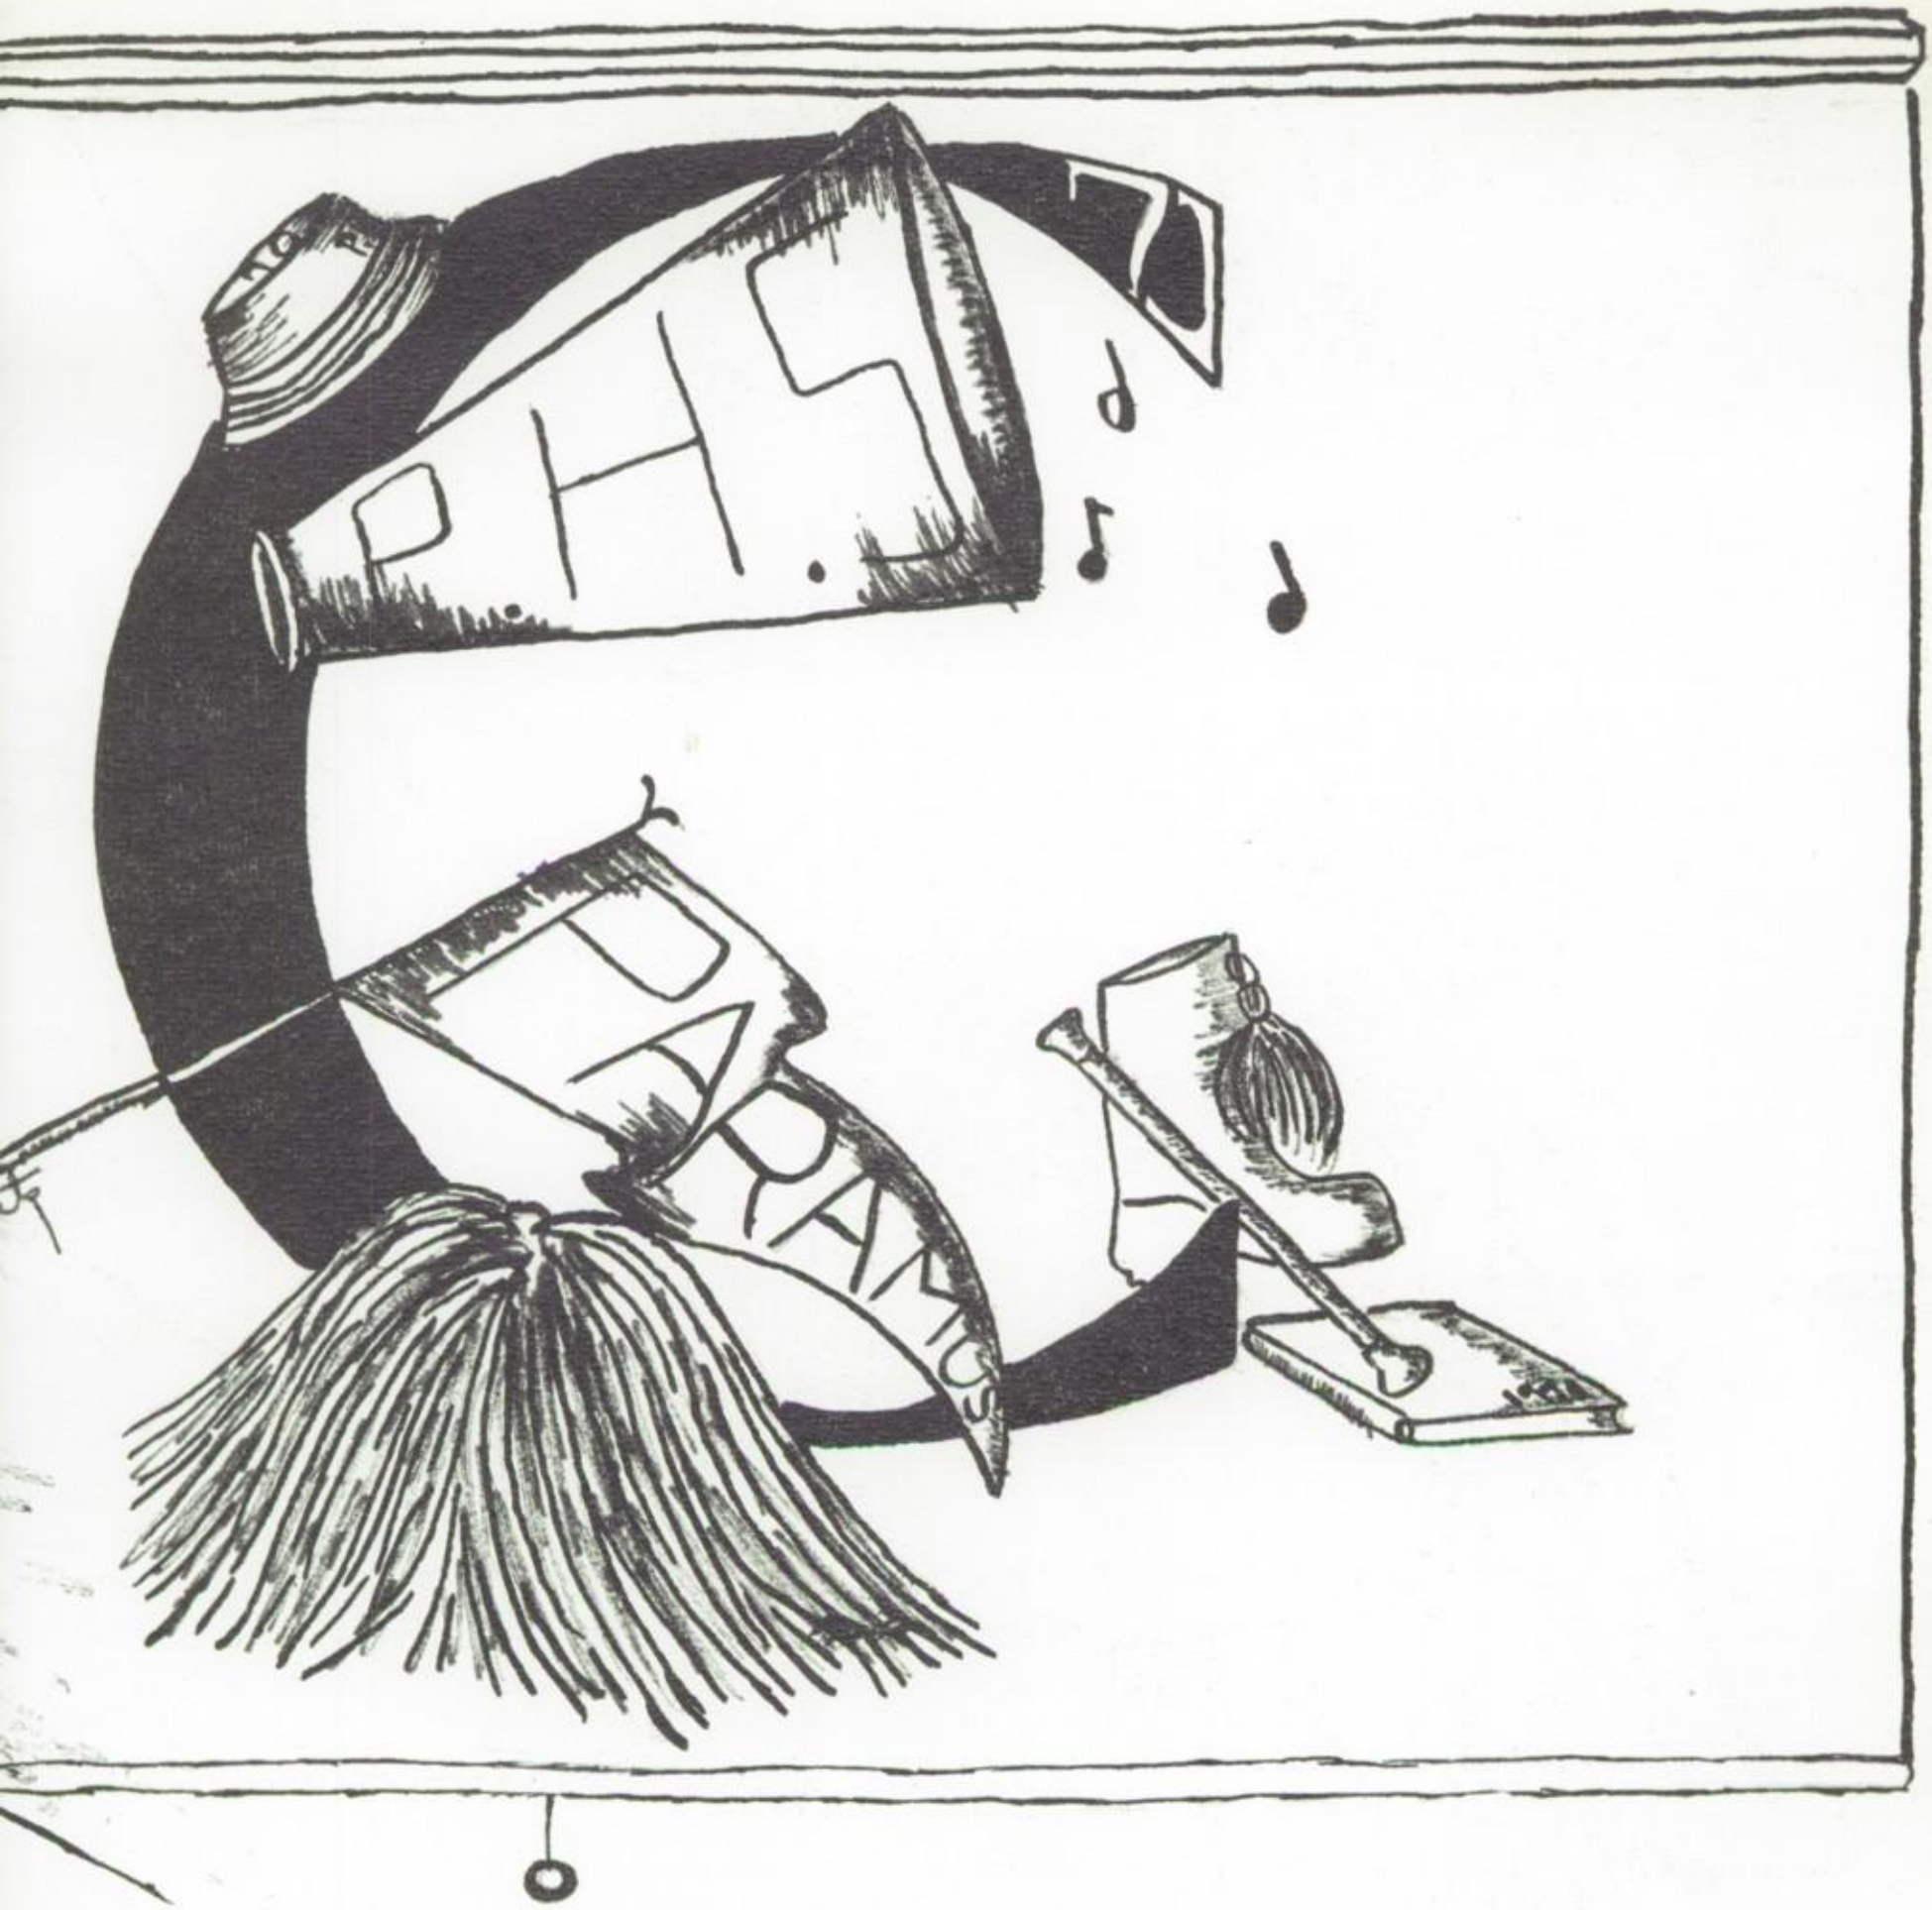
CANDIDLY SPEAKING





PHS

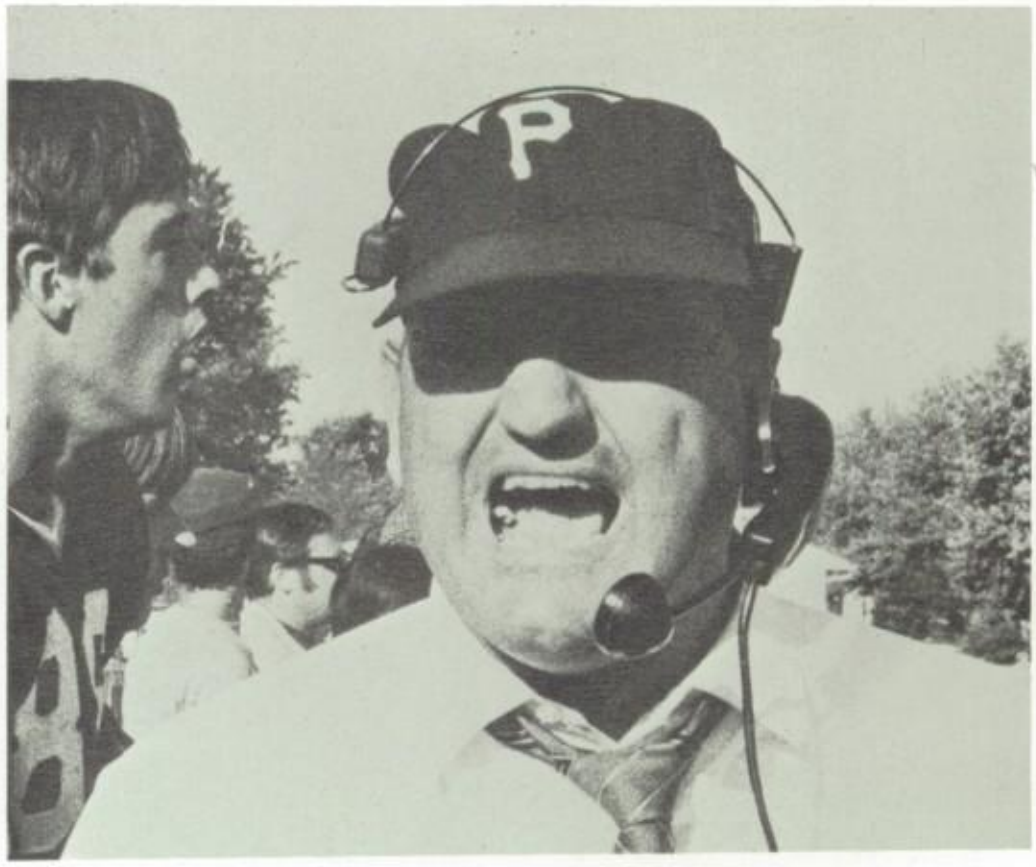
"Look what you got us into now!" PHS Coaches face another season of sports.



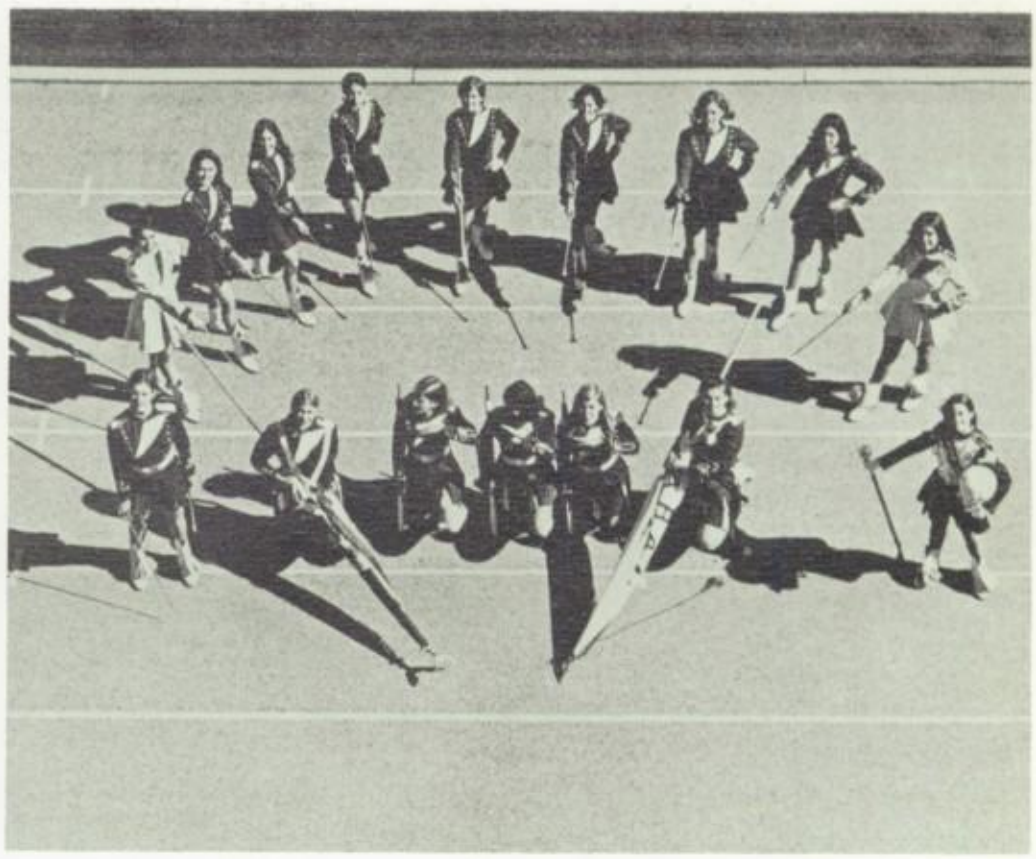
"You Blockhead!" scolds Coach De Gasperis during a game.

"Don't mind me, I'm just one of the guys," declares Mr. J. Waneck.

"Don't move. I've got you covered!" Guy Brown sets up a picture for the Yearbook.

"Who needs the Rockettes?!" PHS Twirling Squad performs at an assembly.

"No, I'm sorry, I don't carry a birdie with me." Dian Studio Photographer, Vic, takes senior pictures.



"The human sun-dial." PHS Color Guard Squad.

"I don't want it, you take it." Mitch Mench tries to get rid of the ball.

"Gee, I could have sworn the game was today," states Coach Corso.

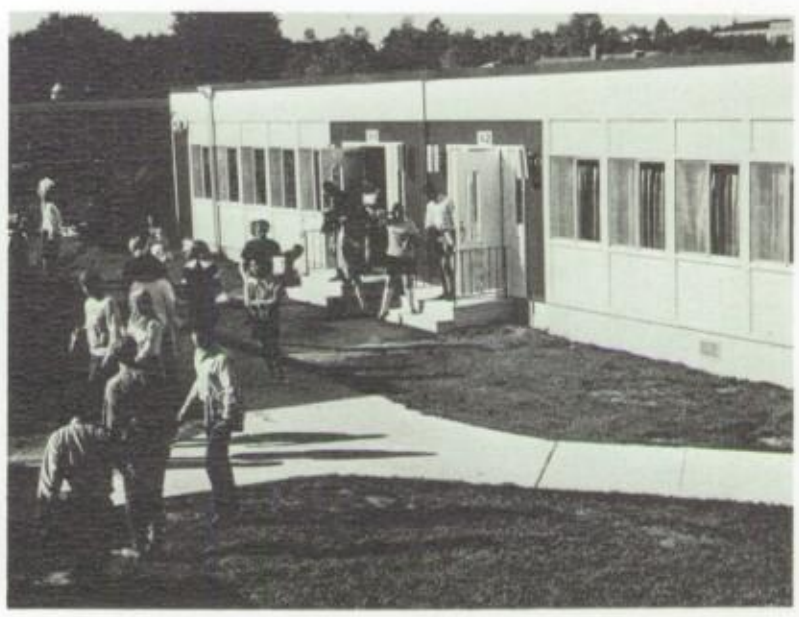
"It's not the idea of getting married that bothers me, it's the license fee. Gary Kriftner and Cathy Zubalsky tie the knot at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

"It's the one with the mink collar," whispers Beth Manni at the end of a school dance.

"If you want it, here it is; come and get it!" Al Favero carries the ball during Fair Lawn game.

"Oh, come on! She can't be that ugly." Cheerleaders hide Nancy Quirolo from the camera.

"If it's good enough for the guys . . ." gulps Ann Suter.



"The Orphan School," nickname for the new portable classrooms.

"In bed by 9:00? You've gotta be kidding, Coach!" exclaims Kevin Castellani.

"Little Red Riding Hood," better known as Mike Moffitt.

"On my pay, I can't afford skis," quips Mr. Kingsley as he coasts down the slopes of PHS.

"A PHS touchdown? What else?!"

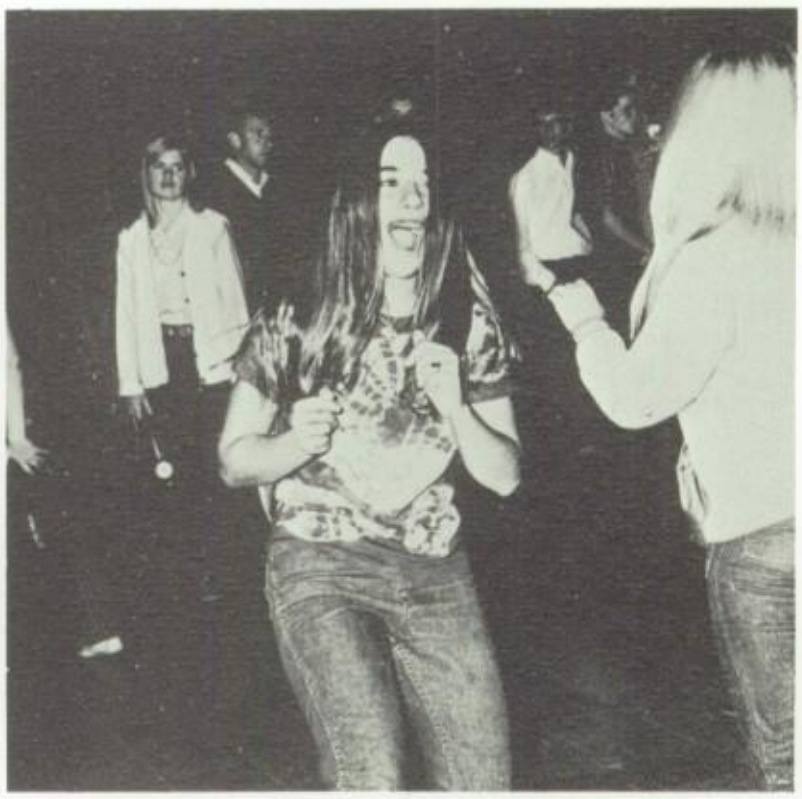
"Yup. It only took 24,873 plaid stamps." Mr. Allen with one of his prize possessions.

"This could be tense." Al Favero pushes through the opposing defense.

"Yeah, I'd like to see you say that again on this side of the net," yell Alan Sotnick and Bob Roth during tennis practice.

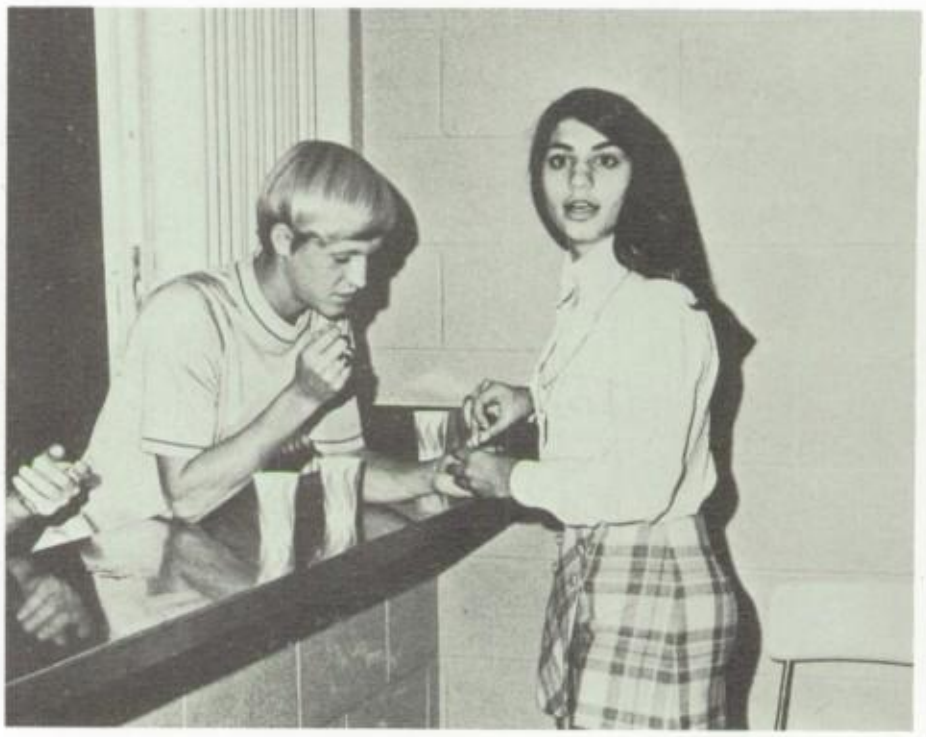
"No telling what good school planning can accomplish." A typical passing period on the stairs of PHS.

"Let us pray." Mr. Adams math class whispers a silent prayer during a test.

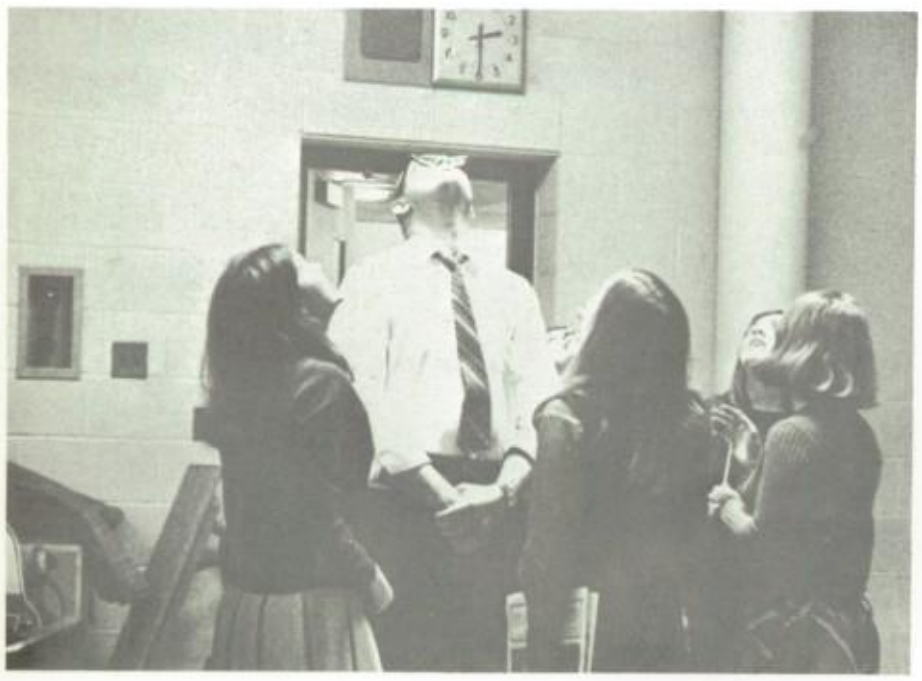


"You think I can stop long enough to tie my shoe?" asks Lori Giordano during a school dance.

"You can play, it's still beating." Coach Corso urges Joe Leicht to play.



"It's only a soda; what did you think it was?" Lorraine Fasolino selling refreshments to Larry Bors-Koefoed during a school dance.



"If it's gonna fall, we're in the perfect place to see it." Mr. Allen jokes with several Chorus members.

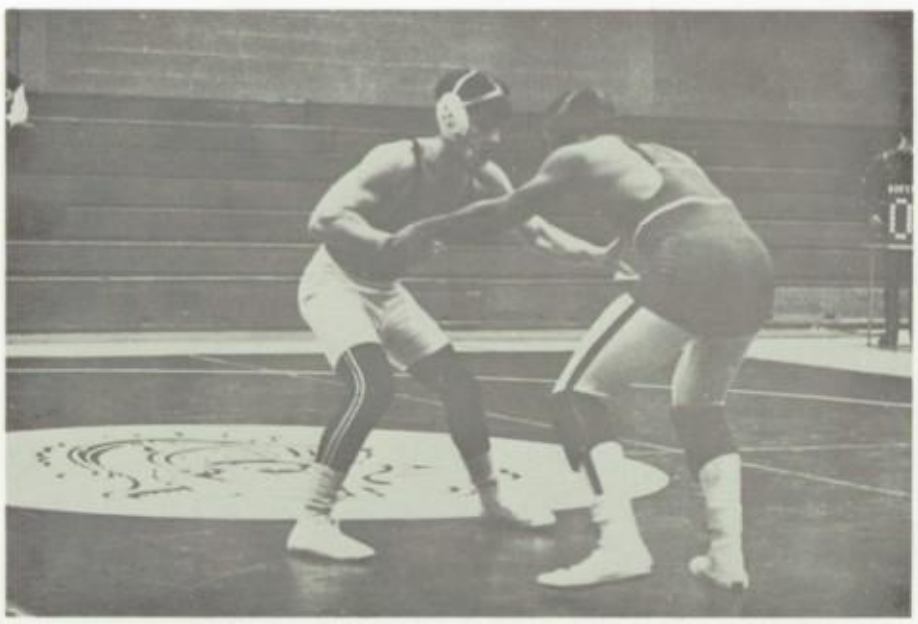
"But I didn't say Simon Says." Coach Corso dismisses the team from a practice.

"What do you mean we're making too much noise?" Tom Kupfrian and Joe Leicht at the Pep Rally.

"I just can't get into it." Kevin O'Rourke studies in the library

"Hark, the Herald Angels sing." Junior Spartans leading a cheer.

"I don't think my knuckles can take much more of this!" exclaims Barry Blaxberg as Mr. Hodgins installs him as Student Council President.

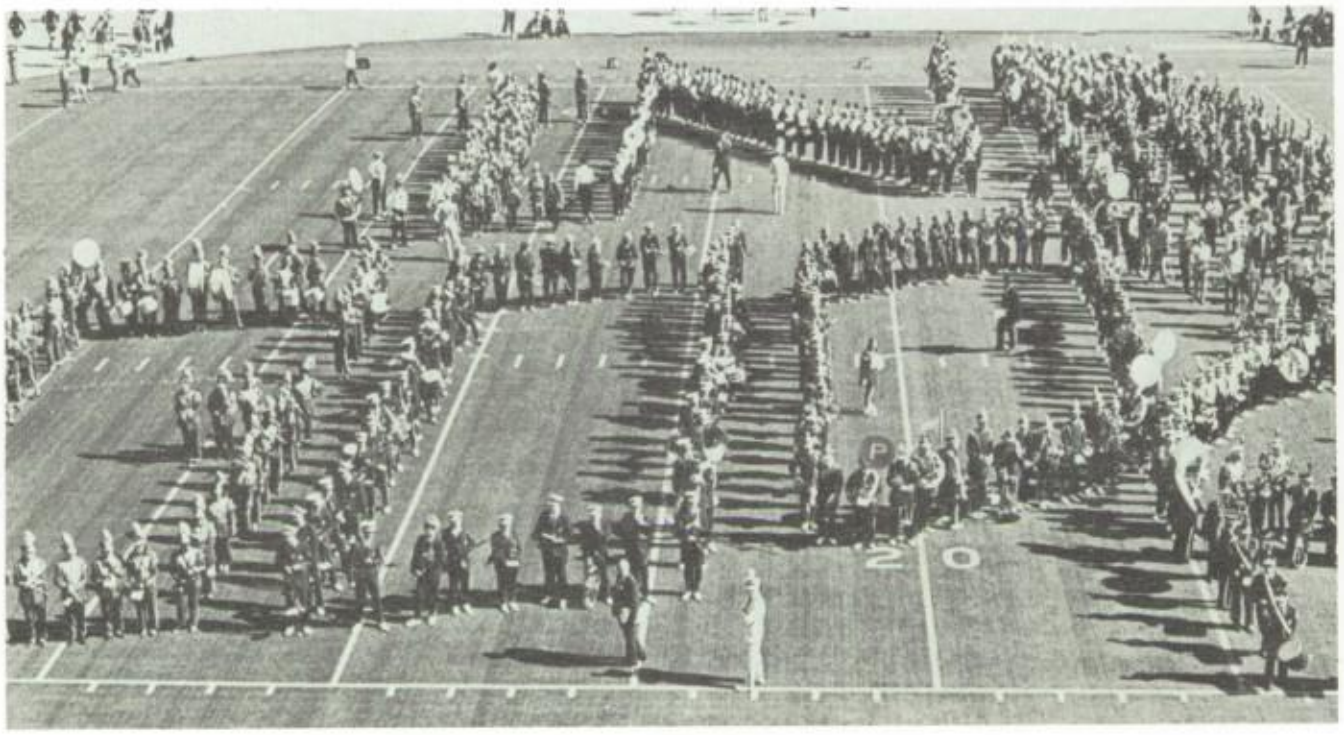


"Okay, what do we do now?" Scott Gins at the start of a match with Englewood.

"All wrapped up in his work." Dave Penque helps convey Christmas greetings during a band program.

"The Human Guppies." Linda Tancredi and Maddy Silvestri fooling around in the choir room.

"Take me to your leader." Arnie Friedman & company rehearsing.



"A mass of music." Philadelphia Band Festival.

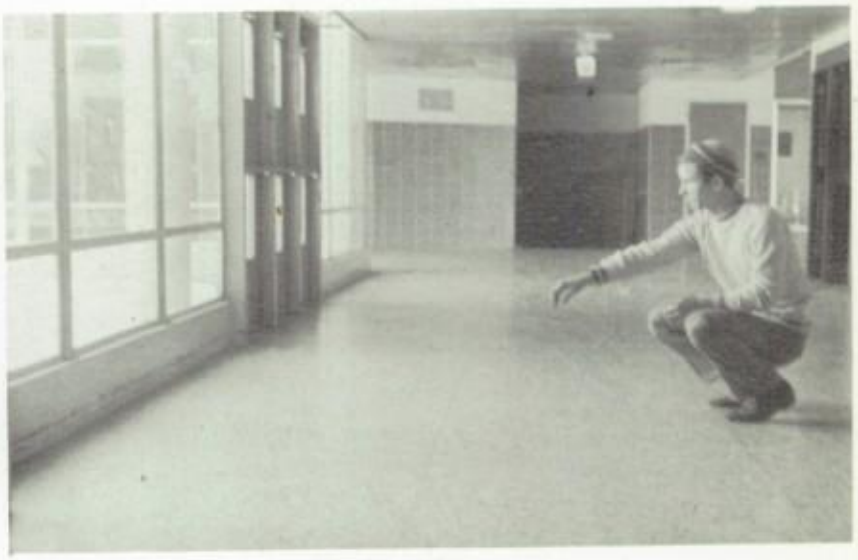
"Booga, Booga!" Sue Moneuse attempts to scare away the cameraman.

"Face off at High Noon." Girls' gym class at the start of a game.

"If I don't get this off, they might put me in the lineup." cries Karen Koegel as several Cheerleaders look on.

"Up, up, and away." Two underclassmen during gym class.

"We'll go to any height to psyche out our rivals." Ken Kapusta, Perry Ciccotelli, John Haw, and Greg Sharko prepare to meet Teaneck on top of the rippled roof.



"It's really quiet around here 9th period!" Paul Motiuk near the boys' gym.

"I really don't think I can get up," laughs Beth Manni during sleigh-riding season.

"Catch me if you can!" Boys' gym class engages in a football game.

"Pre-game warmups are always rough," groans John Skurla.

"Can't you tilt the paper a little bit more?" begs Ray Cerniglia of Bill Borra.

"I'm all yours." Larry Bors-Koefoed "falling" into Denise Hirsch's arms.

"How much do I hear for this adorable little boy?" Mr. Polito and son Bobby.

"Who says you can't eat on the job?!" demands Sue Bladek.

"What is that doing down there?" Miss Nardo examines a biology slide.

"What music doesn't conquer, Excedrin will," jests Mark Brandness.

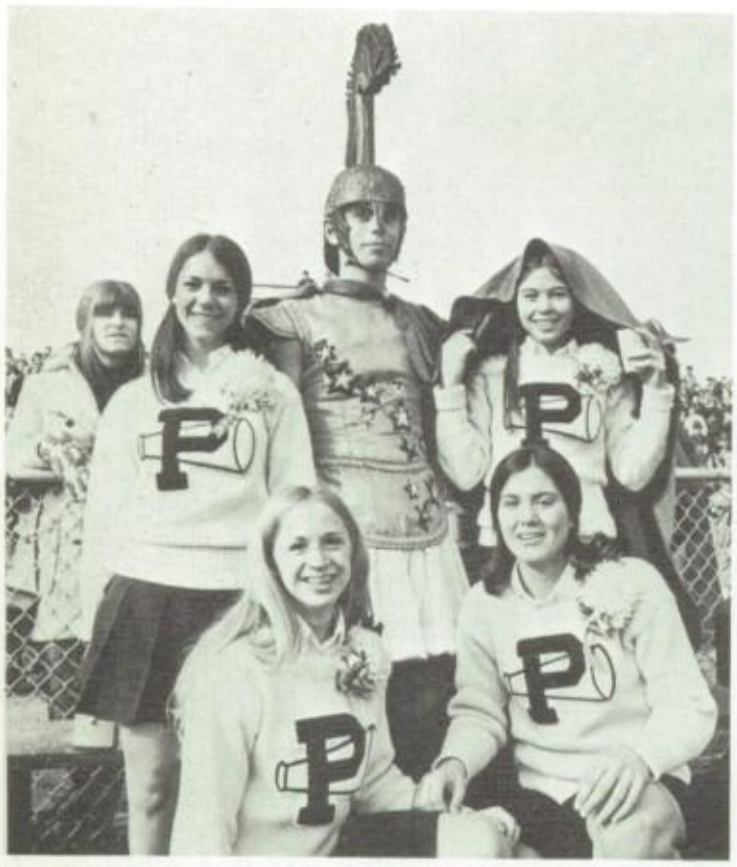
"Yes, I have a reason why these two should not be joined together . . ." jokes John Le Rose.

"All I said was that the faculty was getting a little . . .!" groans Heidi Pettersen during the Musical's dress rehearsal.

"The Stampede." PHS Football Team.

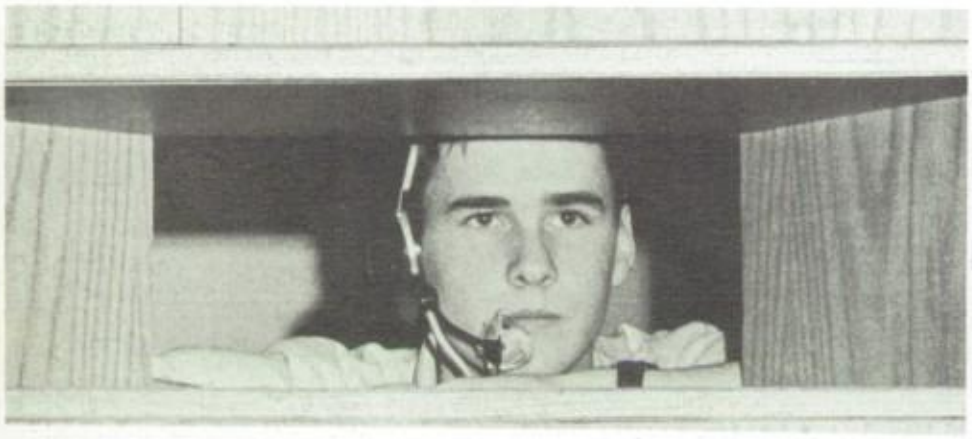
"I don't know about you, but I'll take this formation over the one on the field," jokes Guy Brown to Paul Scelzo.

"Maybe I can bluff an answer," thinks Cliff Singer during a math class.



"Who says Spartans had it rough?" muses Tim LaRose.

"You will have a long life and fifteen children," predicts Mr. Lanzalotto of Shelley Wallisch at the Sadie Hawkins dance.



"I haven't got the heart to tell them there's no audience," thinks Bob Wilson working backstage.

"To perform a good lab, you have to become a part of it." Cynthia Sprouls getting right on top of a Physics lab.

"I wish the coach had told me what to do now!" exclaims Tim LaRose during the Fort Lee game.

"Would you believe the New York Philharmonic?" The New Paramus band shell.

"This will hurt me more than you," Coach Polito straightens out a misunderstanding with Ray Rulli.

"This is really off the wall!" says Chuck Ferreri to Mark Slifko during a soccer practice.

The two newest members of the faculty, portrayed on the Art Service Bulletin Board.

"This food is from where?" questions Mr. La Manna at Back to School night.

"Kids with the spirit and on the go, come from the class of 7-0."

"It may not win your heart, but it goes great with pizza." Patty Sayre tempts Brian Schulz during the Choir Musical.

"What do you think it is? . . . our mascot." Several Track team members head out for practice.

"The green is back where?" Rich Silver prepares a chip shot.

"Bud and baking soda? Why not!" A display by one of the Art Classes.

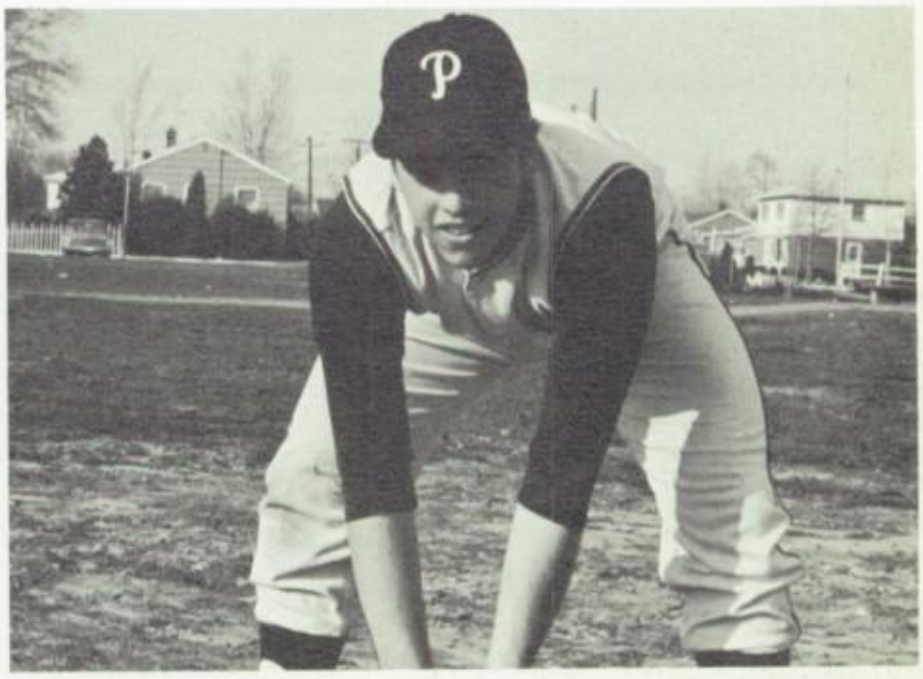
"Ya know something? You're really cheap." Ralph Jaffe and Fran Cantermessner share refreshments at a school dance.

"Ho-hum. Aren't girls a drag?" Steve Lanzalotto and Cathy Cronin talk during a school dance.

"I better get this away before they see me." Chris Marshall caught at the files of the Yearbook in 213.

"We're not all gonna get through at once, so stop pushing." Steve Lotosky and Bob Lundsten hurry out for track practice.

"That's what you call your basic steering wheel." Mr. Corso instructs a Driver Ed pupil.



"Don't be afraid to come to me!" Bob Rosenberg coaxes the ball during practice.

"Look what Jergens did for her hands in just 84 months!" Debby Poller makes an attempt to get her hands on the camera.

"Would You Believe? . . .

Mike, it's been great going to school with you and hope to be seeing you more when I come up to college. Don't get shot up in Viet Nam. Take care

Best of Luck to the Class of '70

from

The Class of '71!

Those with the spirit, and lots of fun, come from the Class of '71!

H.R. C-7

People
Sometimes they are strange.
They make you laugh, or cry, or they make you happy.
Together people can learn and share and enjoy life.

Dreams
They belong to the people.
Those who have giant dreams and some day live their dreams in reality are giant people.

Life
Life is worth more than a job as a California fruit grower.
It is meeting people. Talking to people.
Walking with people. Listening to their thoughts, their dreams, their goals.
People make life worth living.
When you know you can reach out to someone and he can reach out to you,
When you see a smile on someone's face
and you know you've put it there,
When you know someone that you've made happy and he's made you happy to,
Life is worth living . . . because . . .
to live is to love, and to love is to live . . .

LIFE'S TREASURES

For many Seniors, the past three years have produced a lifetime of memories,
Together we have experienced the vicissitudes of life,
shared the expressions of our emotions, and developed lasting, meaningful relationships with fellow students and teachers.
Time has ripened and polished our characters, and aided in preparing us for personal and social challenges.
Graduation will establish itself as one of Life's priceless landmarks, terminating one valuable phase of existence and introducing a multitude of possibilities for a future one.
As we step forward to cope with the world of tomorrow
May we always keep the thoughts and deeds
Contained herein as Life's most cherished treasures.
